LOSES LAST FIGHT

Administration Wins Battle On Subsidies But Not On NYA, Salary Curb.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Free for the first long recess of the war, the 78th congress left today to talk things over with the voters back home after a session hectic in its division over domestic issues but historic in its unity on mustering the nation's resources for victory.

Work-worn and weary, with tempers short and nerves taut, the lawmakers called time out after six busy months of trying to mesh the American civilian economy with the ever-mounting demands for more and more planes and ships, more and more men and munitions.

In the closing hours, the administration won its major victory of the year, with the senate abandoning its battle for a ban against use of subsidies to carry out President Roosevelt's plan for rolling back retail food prices.

The retreat saved the life of the commodity credit corporation (CCC) extension bill, to which the anti-subsidy rider was attached, for at least another six months. But, as congress bowed, members of both houses served notice they would take up the cudgels again on the issue this fall.

In the final three appropriations measures—a $253,000,000 deficiency bill, $2,911,697,244 for the 18 war agencies, and the $1,137,167,010 labor-security-manpower labor measure—the house won the major points in controversy with the senate.

As a result, the senate's effort to gain confirmation-control over the hiring of $4,500-a-year-or-more employes of the war agencies and the manpower commission was defeated. The house also blocked

Six Firemen Killed When Walls Crash

Seven Others Injured As They Battle Blaze At Chicago.

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO — Six firemen, including a battalion chief, a captain and a lieutenant, were killed and seven others were injured today when the walls of a burning building on Chicago's northwest side collapsed and plunged them into the basement.

Of those injured three still were trapped beneath the timbers and debris in the basement of the building at an early hour today.

Fire department officials said they could not tell if their figures for the dead and injured were complete until rescue work was completed.

The scene of the fire was a four-story building occupied by Wilmer S. Snow, lighting fixtures, and the H. Piehl Transfer company.

The known dead as listed by the fire department were:

Battalion Chief Arthur Barcal, Capt. Henry Wurtman, Lieut. Edward J. Moffett, Fireman Thomas McCarthy, Fireman Robert Walsh, Fireman Harry Weimel.

Still trapped in the basement of the building were Capt. Matthew J. McDonough, Richard Jablonski, driver for Division Marshal Del White, and Fireman L. Strenski. There remained the possibility that still others were buried in the debris.

Four firemen previously removed to Henrotin hospital were Lieut. John Ryan, Arthur Hanpel, who was dragged out of the basement through a hole drilled in the wall from an adjoining building; Charles Mackin, and Maurice Geary.

Father William Gorman, known as the "chaplain" of the fire department, crawled through the hole forced in the wall, pushed his way through the debris and administered the last rites of the Catholic church to the gravely injured men.

Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan earler had been able to call

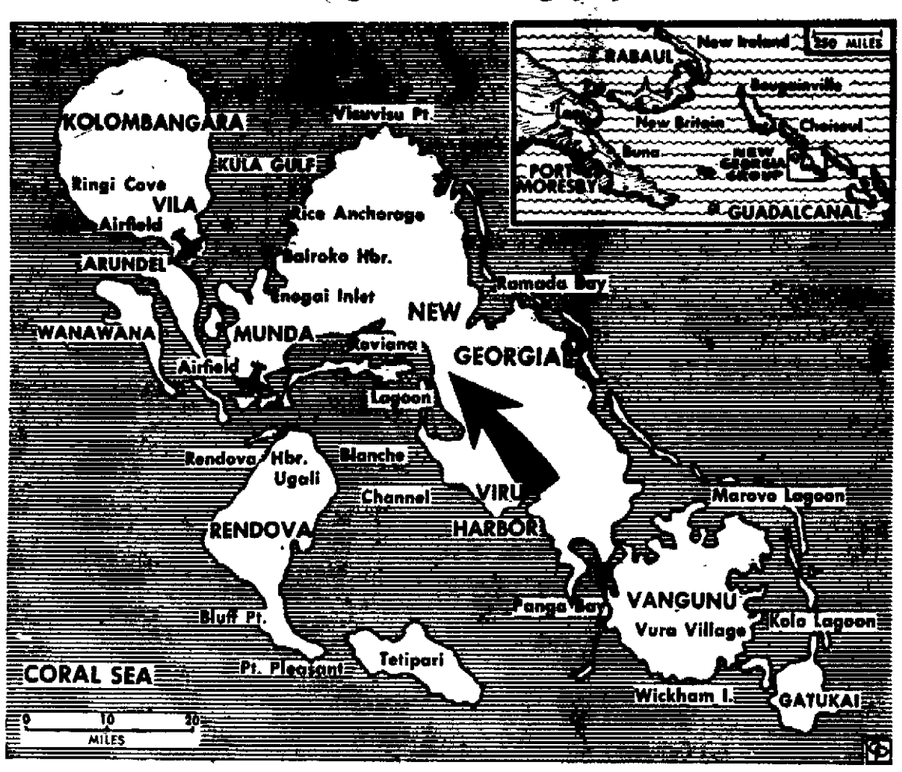
Yanks Closing In on Big Jap Air Base



Following the spectacular defeat of Jap naval units in Kula bay where American craft sank nine, and possibly 11, enemy warships, U. S. land forces are sweeping in on the vital air base at Munda. The ground troops were reported today to be only three miles from the base after a driving advance through the jungles northward from Viru Harbor. Across the narrow neck of water Yank guns have been pouring shells upon the airfield from Rendova island, occupied at the beginning of the southwest Pacific offensive.

PUSH MOVE FOR BUILDING CODE

Real Estate Board, Health Chief Support 11th Hour Drive for Program.

With a war worker housing project due to get under way in the Mansfield-Shelby area this summer, an eleventh-hour move to get council approval of a building code ordinance for Mansfield had been started today.

Leading the program for a building restriction ordinance is the Mansfield Real Estate board which has urged council to take prompt action to assure the city of quality construction in the new homes that will be built for employes of war industries.

Joining the move today was Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, who said the health of the city is affected by the type of residence structures its workers occupy

FDR CLARIFIES U. S. POSITION

Says No French Government Can Be Recognized Now.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—As long as the French people are under German domination, President Roosevelt indicated today, the United States cannot recognize the French committee for national liberation nor any other organization as the government power of France.

Mr. Roosevelt told a press conference he did not think the question of recognizing the committee for national liberation had come. He observed that currently there is no France except about five per cent which is outside of the occupied France in Europe.

Figuring Ickes' Way, Indians Had Edge on Us All

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Robert Jones (R., O.) read Interior Secretary Ickes' recent magazine article on the value of the United States and then suggested that the Indians could top that value before the white man came.

"The red man had more natural resources on the right-hand side of the ledger than we have," Jones reasoned. "They probably could figure a higher dollar personal worth when the white man landed

WON'T QUIT

Roberts Says He's Unfettered By Link With OWI.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Roy A. Roberts, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, says he does not intend to withdraw from the advisory commitee of the office of war information as suggested by Dean W. Ackerman of the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism.

In urging Roberts to withdraw, Ackerman said the judgment and opinion of the president of the ASNE "should be above the influence of official pressure." Roberts replied that "acting in an advisory and administrative capacity should not circumscribe or limit independence of action."

The discussion was made public yesterday in the form of an exchange of telegrams between Ackerman, a member of the ASNE, and Roberts, who also is managing editor of the Kansas City Star.

FACE LOSS

Motorists Who Visited Lakes May Lose Rations.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The district office of price administration here reported 110 out-of-state motorists who spent the July 4 week-end at Indian or Buckeye lakes faced suspension or revocation of their gasoline ration books, and that the names of 90 Ohioans from counties 100 or more miles from the resorts would be certified to district OPA offices for possible disciplinary action.

FDR Provides First Chance For Wallace, Jones To Meet.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— President Roosevelt called a cabinet meeting today, providing the first opportunity for vice president Henry A. Wallace and Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones to meet since last week's failure of Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes to compose differences between the feuding officials.

NIGHT SHOPPING HOURS STUDIED

Retail Merchants Board to Consider Request From CIO Council Today.

BULLETIN

Directors of the Mansfield Retail Merchants' association at a meeting today authorized the president, Merle Pecht, to appoint a committee representing the various branches of retailing to study the CIO request for at least one shopping night a week. The committee will make its recommendations to the association later.

Whether Mansfield will follow the example of other Ohio cities in keeping stores open one or two nights a week for the convenience of war workers was to be considered today by the board of directors of the Mansfield Retail Merchants association at their regular monthly meeting.

A request from the Richland county CIO council that business places remain open one night a week was scheduled to go before the board at a noon meeting. The labor organization's request was submitted this morning to V. H. Lodde, secretary of the Retail Merchants association.

The CIO council pointed out that if business places, including banks and doctors' and dentists' offices, remain open one night, war workers would save the work time they lose now by leaving their jobs to do necessary shopping during the day.

Major stores in Cleveland are now open until 9 p. m. Mondays while Akron retail establishments have adopted a 12:30 p. m. to 9 p. m. schedule on Monday to enable workers to do their shopping after work hours. Bucyrus stores are open two nights a week, Monday and Saturday, and retail merchants' organizations in other Ohio cities are adopting night shopping hours at the request of workers who are rarely free to do their buying during the day.

Davis Says Resignation Due To Budget Cut.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The resignation of Lowell Mellett as chief of the motion picture bureau of the OWI was announced today by Elmer Davis.

Mellett's resignation, effective July 15, was due to budget reduction made by congress in OWI appropriations which virtually eliminated activities of the bureau, Elmer Davis said.

TRY TO STEM ASSAULT

Observers See Defenders In Precarious Position Near Belogorod.

(By United Press)

MOSCOW—Southern front dispatches reported today that hundreds of 60-ton German "Tiger" tanks were ablaze in the Belgorod sector, reflecting a growing belief that the Red army was gaining the upper hand in the biggest armored battle of all time.

"We have tamed the terrible Tiger" was the war cry ringing through the field reports which said Russian tanks had stormed into the titanic battle to reinforce Soviet artillery, armor-busters, and grenade-throwers against the Nazis' steel-monsters.

The great armored battle swirled through penetrated Soviet defenses in the Belgorod region at the southern end of the thundering battle line, where the Red army was throwing in every ounce of available strength to stem the Nazi onrush.

(The British radio said Moscow correspondents expected a climax in the battle within 48 hours. A Stockholm report of the National Broadcasting company said the Germans admitted "rivers of blood" had been drawn from both sides.)

As the Soviets threw in their armored forces into a concerted effort to close the Belgorod breaches in their positions and stop the long delayed German summer offensive, Red army coun-

CONFUSED?

Mayor Says Street Protests Due to Misunderstanding.

Protests of Lexington avenue property owners against assessments for widening and resurfacing the street were attributed today by Mayor W. J. Locke to a misunderstanding of the amount of the cost that will be charged against property holders. The cost is figured at about 50 cents per front foot.

The mayor said he had talked to a number of the persons who had protested and learned that they thought their assessments would be much higher than the figures show.

Council Clerk R. R Black, who serves the assessment notices, supported the mayor's contention, adding that he had talked to several of the 81 property owners who signed a petition of objection and they agreed to the assessments after learning that the cost would not be excessive.

Black said he had been instructed by council to quote the cost to property owners at about 50 cents per front foot. Assessments will be made under the benefit plan and property owners will make the payments over a three-year period.

Underbelly Attacks In Sixth Day

Allied Planes Shuttle Over Mediterranean to Rip Axis Targets.

(By Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA—Hundreds of Allied planes shuttled back and fourth across the Mediterranean yesterday for the sixth consecutive day to rain explosives upon the Sicilian airdromes and ports which constitute Italy's first line of defense, it was announced today.

Heavy and medium bombers, fighter-bombers and fighters from northwest African bases, Malta and the Middle East joined in the missions of destruction.

Triphammer blows were loosed upon familiar targets and the lighter craft also went on freelance missions across the length and breadth of Sicily, shooting up trains, radio stations and troops. One Axis troop convoy was caught on a road.

The aircraft nests above Gerbini were blasted again by day and by night, whipsawed from the southwest and the southeast, Catania, Comiso, Sciacca and Cap Passero, the latter at the southeast tip of Sicily only 85 miles from the RAF base at Valletta, were hit anew.

Northwest African, Valletta and Middle East communiques told of the shooting down of 21 Axis fighters and the destruction of other enemy planes on the

NEW YORK — The Associated Press, contending there the major questions of fact at issue, has asked for an open trial of the government's civil anti-trust suit against it in order that testimony can be presented.

This action by the co-operative news service came yesterday during argument before a special three-judge bench in federal court on the government's motion for a summary judgment, which would require the rendering of a verdict without trial and on documents alone. The court reserved decision.

The Associated Press contended that opening of its membership "to any newspaper wish-

Supply Lines Washed Out by Flash Flood.

STEUBENVILLE —(AP)— Most of the 35,000 residents of this Ohio river city still were deprived of a normal water supply today after rains washed out supply lines from the pumping station to the filtration plant.

Consumers in the west end of the city experienced no interruption in service but the business section and most residential areas still awaited completion of emergency repairs. Service Director Joseph Lopresto said he hoped to have service restored before tomorrow.

Allied Planes Pound Nearby Supporting Areas With 100 Tons of Bombs.

FOE PLANE POWER WEAK

U. S., Australian Aircraft Continue Blasting Path Toward Salamaua.

(By Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA — Only three miles from Munda, United States invaders are probing Japanese defenses of that New Georgia island air base and over both the Solomons and New Guinea Allied planes have dealt new blows with nearly 100 tons of bombs, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported today.

On the other hand, the hard hit Japanese air force, having lost nearly 200 planes over the Solomons within a week, has diminished the weight of its punches.

The pincers which American Marines and soldiers began applying on Munda July 5 by landing both above and east of it pressed nearest at Elelo, on the east, where advanced patrols clashed Thursday with Japanese and defeated them. It was a feeling-out encounter with the big push obviously in abeyance while the main forces which stormed ashore above Munda at Rice Anchorage and east of it at Zanana consolidate positions.

The entrenched Japanese at Munda are believed to be in considerable strength, prepared to offer a bloody defense.

Above New Georgia on Kolombangara island, Munda's big supply depot at Vila was fired and holed by 21 tons of high explosives unloaded by Dauntless divebombers and Avenger torpedo bombers. Corsairs protected the raiders.

Further up the Solomons, the Kahili airdrome from which the

REED IN WIND

Senator Blows Presidential Breeze Toward Colleagues.

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Senator Reed (R-Kan.) thinks the Republicans ought to give the presidential nod either to Senator Taft (R-Ohio) or Senator Vendenberg (R-Mich.)

"I think," he said during debate on the food subsidy program, "the Republican party is wasting a great deal of time trying to find a candidate, looking at Willkie, Governor Dewey (of New York) and Governor Bricker (of Ohio) when there are two men in the senate, either of whom would make a better candidate than any other of the men I have named."

Reed praised Taft for "statesmanship" displayed during discussion of the food problem.

GET MORE TIME

Army Inductees Get Three-Week Furloughs Soon.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The Fifth Service Command reported today that beginning next Thursday, two of every three Ohioans inducted into the armed forces, will receive three-week instead of two-week furloughs at the time of induction.

The longer furloughs will become effective on the same day at the five Ohio induction stations at Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Akron and Toledo, command officers said. The extended leaves at induction apply only to those who are taken into the army.

SIRENS SOUND

London Undergoes 655th Air Raid Alert.

LONDON—(INS)—Air raid sirens sounded London's 655th alert of the war early tonight, closely followed by sounds of heavy gunfire from the outskirts of the capital.

London underwent its last night alert June 22, but no incidents were reported.

Boy Admits Check Forgery, Says He Threw Away $100

A 17-year-old youth who, according to police, confessed forging three checks against the Richland Farm Bureau cooperative told officers last night he threw $100 of the money he obtained into a creek because he "didn't want to be caught with it on me."

Jailed yesterday, the youth was questioned throughout the afternoon by detectives and steadfastly denied taking a book of checks from the Farm bureau office and forging them.

He called for detectives about 8 p. m. yesterday at the city jail, however, and confessed the theft of the checks and a check writer and told officers where to find the unused checks, Police Chief Meade K. Bates said.

The check book with six checks missing was located in an alley

ASK BOOST IN PAPER PRICE

Canadian Newsprint Mills Want $6 More A Ton.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Canadian newsprint mills are asking a price increase of $6 a ton, it was reported today. The demands were outlined at a meeting yesterday attended by Office of Price Administration officials and a group of newspaper publishers.

Further discussions will be held soon in Montreal or Toronto between U. S. Price officials and the Canadian wartime prices and trade board, before a final decision is made.

An increase of $4 a ton was made last March, lifting the ceiling to a basis of $54 a ton, some of the U. S. manufacturers who supply about 25 per cent of the newsprint used in this country have asked an additional $5 to $6.

O. S. R. Fugitive Who Escaped During Gun Battle Captured

John Mullens, 22 Mansfield reformatory fugitive, was apprehended in Lakewood early today by the same two Lakewood police officers who captured his companion, Ralph Inscho, in a gun battle last Wednesday.

Mullens became the object of an extended search through the Cleveland area after he eluded authorities when his companion was wounded and captured earlier in the week.

Sgt. Emmet Frank and Patrolman Francis Seelie were credited with Mullens' arrest and recovery of a stolen convertible coupe in which he was riding. Mullens, alias Jack Jones, was carrying a 22-caliber target gun with him at the time. He offered no resistance.

After escaping from the reformatory farm in a car owned by Arthur Garver, a guard, the pair, both trusties, were first sighted and chased by police near Cleveland last Saturday.

Officers lost their trail until Wednesday when they captured Inscho after the car in which the two were riding overturned following a 90-mile-an-hour chase. Officers fired more than 30 shots at the stolen automobile, two of them wounding Inscho, making possible his capture after he left the auto and began to proceed on foot. Mullens escaped into the brush.

Early this year Mullens escaped from the Grafton Honor farm but gave himself up and was sent to Mansfield. The two escaped July 1.

SENT TO PEN

Pair Accused of Violating Probation Sentenced.

Cited into court for violation of probation, Fred Ewers, 31, and Daniel Sweet, 22, were sentenced to one to 20 years in the Ohio penitentiary today by Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch.

The pair, originally charged with operating a vehicle without the consent of the owner, violated their probations with the same breach of law at the same time but in separate offenses.

Ewers was arrested by Knox county authorities and brought to the local jail while Sweet was arrested in Mansfield. They were ordered into court by Probation Officer Ralph Hughes.

SALES TAX DOWN

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Prepaid sales tax receipts totaled $1,236,120 for the week ended June 26, as compared with $2,108,160 for the corresponding 1942 week, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright reported today.

County Wheat Crop Expected To Be 75 Per Cent of Normal

Richland county's wheat harvest, expected to start next week in the southern townships, will produce about 75 per cent of the normal crop, considerably better than in most sections of Ohio.

That's the prediction of Guy L. Taylor, county Triple-A committee and war board chairman. His forecast is supported by J. O. Hanley, Mansfield miller, who is even more optimistic about the harvest outlook.

Taylor said reports which have come to him from all parts of the county indicate the crop will be better south of Mansfield than in the northern townships. Wheat cutting is nearly done in the Lexington, Bellville, and Butler areas and is under way in the northern half of the county. Threshing will start next week south of Mansfield if the weather is warm and dry, Taylor said.

Wheat throughout the state suffered severe damage during the past winter, but it seems to have recovered more rapidly in the Richland county area, Taylor added.

Both Taylor and Hanley attributed the rapid recovery to the heavy rainfall in May which stimulated the growth of wheat. The variance in the quality of the crop in Richland county is due to the different types of soil in the county, Taylor said.

A few county farmers, discouraged at the grain outlook early in the spring, plowed their wheat under and seeded the land in other quick-developing crops.

LOAN COST REDUCED

ON ALL LOANS ABOVE $150

— EFFECTIVE AT ONCE —

This new loan rate offers worthwhile savings to those whose budgets have been upset by the June income tax installment. Now is the ideal time to clear up all those scattered bills that have troubled you. With only one place to pay, you can organize your way out of debt on an orderly repayment schedule adjusted to fit your purse. Of course, we make small loans too. For instance, $20 for 30 days costs only 60c. But if you need as much as $200, $300, or even $450 or more, remember Interstate's new rate offers you a real reduction on your loan cost. "While you wait" service to those who phone ahead or present proper identification and evidence of employment.

MARKET PRICE CHANGES HOLD NARROW RANGE

Listed Issues Value Sets New Record for Past Half Dozen Years.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Price variations held to a narrow range in today's early stock market proceedings.

Up fractionally at a moderately active opening were Union Carbide, Loew's, Standard Oil (NJ), Commercial Investment Trust, Kennecott and Yellow Truck.

Cheering to commission houses was the compilation of the New York stock exchange putting the market value of all listed issues at $48,876,520,886 as of June 30. This compared with $48,437,700,647 at the end of May and was the largest aggregate for any month since September, 1937, when it was $49,034,032,639.

industrial establishments apart from the residential districts," Dr. Wild said "Congestion must be avoided, leaving space for playgrounds, parks and gardens."

He also emphasized that it is important that plumbing and sewage disposal facilities in new homes and apartments are adequate to eliminate the possibility of contamination from water.

The Mansfield Real Estate board has named a three-member committee to work with a council committee in formulating a code and zoning ordinance to provide for inspection of new buildings and regulating the type of construction and the communities in which business and residence properties may be located.

Council has had a number of proposals for zoning ordinances and building codes before it in recent years, but members have never been able to agree on passage of a plan.

A council committee to study the problem was named recently at the suggestion of Councilman George C. Kyle, a realtor. He said the committee is at work but will not be ready to offer legislation for council action for several weeks.

Launch Drive to Sell $1 In War Stamps to All

Theaters, newsboys, and retail stores across the nation will participate in a 31-day campaign this month to sell at least one dollar's worth of war savings stamps to every man, woman, and child in the country.

More than 16,000 motion picture theaters will take part in the effort to reach 130,000,000 Americans and return $130,000,000 to the treasury department for the construction of an aircraft carrier to be called the "Changri-La."

According to Grattan Johnston, manager of the Ohio theater, Mansfield theaters have begun their part in the campaign which is to last through the month of July.

"This city's theaters are certain," Johnston stated "that Mansfielders will enthusiastically support the campaign. Everyone can afford at least a dollar in memory of those American fliers who were so ruthlessly murdered by the Japanese."

MAKES IT OFFICIAL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. — (U.P.) — Margo, of the stage, screen and radio, told the superior court here that her original name caused great difficulty and overwork in the making up and signing of her contracts and other legal papers. She was born and named Maria Marguerita Guadalupe Bolado Y Castillo. So the court just made it plain "Margo" for every one concerned.

SELL US
Your Unused or Extra
ELECTRIC IRON

We will pay you cash for your unused or extra electric iron if the iron is in serviceable condition.

We'll put your idle iron to work by selling it to one of the girls in the service, a newlywed, or a war worker who is in real need of an iron and will be glad to have even a used one.

Many irons have been turned in and have been gratefully purchased by people unable to secure a new one. So if you have an idle iron, put it to work by selling it to us.

MORE WINNERS

Two Others Announced for Victory Garden Contest.

Two more winners had been marked up today in the Richland County Victory committee's vegetable contest at the county agent's office.

Taking first prize of one dollar in war stamps and blue ribbon for the earliest and best carrots was L. D. Ridenour, 597 Cook road. It was his second entry of carrots, an earlier display failing to get the approval of the judges because of the vegetable's small size.

Andrew Johnson, Winwood drive, took the second prize for cabbage. The first-place honor had already been awarded to Supt. W. L. Miller of Mansfield schools.

Sponsors To File MacArthur's Petition Without Consent.

CHICAGO —(INS)— Sponsors of an Illinois boom for Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Republican presidential candidate in 1944 gathered in Chicago today for their first meeting.

They plan to file Gen. MacArthur's petition in the Illinois April primaries despite the fact Gen. MacArthur never has given his consent to any movement in his behalf, saying in effect his whole concern was getting on with the war.

HURT IN EXPERIMENT

FINDLAY —(AP)— Ten-year-old William Perkins was killed and his brother, Jewell, 16, suffered the loss of a hand as the result of an explosion in the basement of their home where their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jewell H. Perkins, said they were experimenting with chemicals.

Shoot Saturday—The Mansfield Muzzle Loader Rifle club will shoot Saturday at it grounds on U. S. Route 30, three miles west of the city, Secretary-Treasurer Paul Hauserman announced. The shoot will start at 1 p. m.

Named on Board—Dr. W. H. Wolford, Mansfield dentist, today had been appointed to the Mansfield board of health by Mayor W. J. Locke to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Atty. J. H. Gongwer.

Meeting Sunday—A meeting at the Shiloh Baptist church Sunday at 3 p. m. will be in charge of the Forward Outlook League. Rev. A. J. Payne will speak on "The Status of the Negro in the Post-war World." Music will be furnished by the Community and St. John's choruses.

WIN PAROLES

Two From County to Receive Releases From O. S. R.

The state pardon and parole commission today announced paroles to 47 inmates of the Mansfield Reformatory including two from Richland county

James Foster, sentenced Aug. 21, 1940, for not more than three and not less than 20 years on a rape charge will be released Oct. 1.

Charged with assault with intent to rob, Aug. 25, 1941, Jay Hunter will be paroled Aug. 16 after serving two years of his 1 to 25 year sentence. Originally on probation for the crime, Hunter was sentenced to the reformatory when he violated his three-year probation.

FDR REFUSES

Won't Let Army, Navy Turn Over Data On FCC.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The war and navy departments refused today, by direction of President Roosevelt, to turn over to a house investigating committee headed by Rep. Cox (D.-Ga.) certain documents it had requested to support charges that the federal communications commission was interfering with intelligence operations of the armed service.

The departments' position was stated in letters, made public by Chairman Cox and signed by Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson and Acting Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal.

Forrestal and Patterson also notified the committee they would not permit the appearance of army and navy officers the committee desired to question.

SECRET AGENT X-9

HELLO, CHIEF— THIS IS X-9. I'M STILL OVER HERE AT THE PLAYHOUSE— WE HAVEN'T IDENTIFIED THE MURDERED MAN....
THE VICTIM WAS FOUND IN THE ACTRESS GILDA'S DRESSING-ROOM. SHE THINKS SHE MAY HAVE KILLED HIM, BUT CAN'T REMEMBER ANYTHING.... YES, AMNESIA.
X-9!
THE PHOTOGRAPHER JUST GOT READY THESE PRINTS OF THE DEAD MAN.
GOOD! A BUNCH OF NEWS-PAPER BOYS ARE WAITING AT THE STAGE DOOR ENTRANCE. ASK THEM TO COME IN!
7-5
THIS IS THE PICTURE OF THE DEAD MAN. I'D APPRECIATE IT IF YOU'D GIVE IT A GOOD PLAY! WE MIGHT GET SOMEONE TO TELL US WHO HE IS!
WHAT'S WHAT, DOC? HAVE YOU ESTABLISHED THE CAUSE OF DEATH?
YES, X-9, I HAVE! HE WAS SHOT TWICE!
FIRST BULLET ENTERED THE RIGHT TEMPLE FROM AN ANGLE OF 90 DEGREES. SECOND BULLET PENETRATED THE ANKLE AT AN UPWARD SLANT, AND ENTERED THE WALL.
THAT'S INTEREST-ING!
WHAT YOU JUST SAID, DOC, MEANS ONE BULLET WAS FIRED DOWN FROM ABOVE, THE OTHER FROM THE FLOOR.... HOW LONG HAS HE BEEN DEAD?
I'LL NEED TO MAKE MY LABORATORY TESTS TO DETERMINE THAT!
7-6
BELINDA IS ON THE 'PHONE, X-9! SHE SAYS THAT GILDA HAS JUST SNAPPED OUT OF HER AMNESIA AND WANTS TO SEE YOU!
TELL HER I'LL BE RIGHT OVER. WAIT AT THE OFFICE FOR ME, BILL!
HOW'S THE PATIENT, BELINDA?
SAY, X-9— AM I YOUR SECRETARY OR A NURSE? THIS ACTRESS, GILDA, IS KEEPING ME HOPPING!
SHE SNAPPED OUT OF HER AMNESIA! NOW SHE WANTS A LAWYER! SHE DENIES SHE EVER SAW A MURDERED MAN IN HER DRESSING-ROOM!
WHERE IS SHE NOW?
GILDA— THIS IS X-9!
THIS IS FANTASTIC! WHY AM I BEING HELD HERE? I REMEMBER NOTHING OF ANY SO-CALLED MURDER IN MY DRESSING-ROOM!
7-7
YOU'RE NOT UNDER ARREST, MISS GILDA, BUT YOU'RE NOT FREE OF SUSPICION, EITHER. I WANT YOU TO TELL ME THE LAST THING YOU RECALL BEFORE YOU LOST YOUR MEMORY.
I WON'T SPEAK WITH-OUT A LAWYER!
WHILE YOU'RE CALLING FOR YOUR LAWYER, MISS GILDA, I'VE GOT A FEW CALLS TO MAKE, MYSELF.... SEE YOU LATER....
IS A SMART LAWYER GOING TO STOP YOU FROM ASKING HER QUESTIONS? I DON'T LIKE THIS NEW TWIST, X-9!
IF THE LAWYER'S SMART, HE'LL WANT HER TO TALK. SHE'S GOT A MURDER CHARGE HANG-ING OVER HER!
TELL HER I'M AS TOUGH AS NAILS! SHE'D BETTER GET THE BEST LAWYER SHE KNOWS!
I'LL TELL HER THE TRUTH!
7-8
MY LAWYER'S OUT OF TOWN.... I'M NOT UNDER ARREST! TELL X-9 HE CAN SEE ME LATER AT THE THEATRE ..... I'M LEAVING!
X-9 WOULDN'T LIKE THAT, DEAR!
IF YOU DIDN'T COMMIT MURDER, GILDA, YOU'VE NOTHING TO WORRY ABOUT! IF YOU DID, X-9 WILL CATCH UP WITH YOU, SOONER OR LATER!
ALL RIGHT! I'LL WAIT TILL X-9 GETS BACK!.. TELL ME, BELINDA, HOW WELL DO YOU KNOW HIM?
I KNOW X-9 WELL ENOUGH TO KNOW THAT HE WOULD NEVER TRY TO CONVICT ANYONE OF A CRIME WHO IS INNOCENT!
BUT HE SEEMS SO SEVERE!
7-9
OH, YOU'RE WRONG! THOSE FROWNS ARE LAUGH WRINKLES IN REVERSE. I'VE BEEN HIS SECRETARY FOR 5 YEARS AND WOULDN'T TRADE A MINUTE OF IT!
THERE'S THE DOOR-BELL NOW!
HOW WE DOING, BELINDA? DID GILDA GET A LAWYER YET?
NO, X-9. HE'S OUT OF TOWN! SHE SAYS SHE TRUSTS YOU! SHE'LL ANSWER ANY QUESTIONS!
BELINDA, GET YOUR NOTE-BOOK! I WANT YOU TO TAKE DOWN THE COMPLETE INTER-VIEW BETWEEN MISS G... AND MYSELF.
DON'T YOU TRUST ME? WHY DO YOU HAVE TO DO THAT?
YOU HAVE NO LAWYER HERE. WE'LL GLADLY GIVE HIM A COPY OF THIS TESTIMONY WHENEVER HE WANTS IT.
VERY WELL, X-9. WHAT DO YOU WANT TO KNOW?
THIS MORNING YOU CAME TO THE F.B.I. OFFICE WITH A GUN, SAYING YOU THOUGHT YOU'D COMMITTED MURDER. LATER WE FOUND A MURDERED MAN IN YOUR DRESSING-ROOM.
THAT'S RIGHT
AN EXAMINATION BY A DOCTOR PROVED YOU WERE SUFFERING FROM AMNESIA... I WANT YOU TO TELL ME EXACTLY WHAT HAPPENED UP TO THE MOMENT YOU LOST YOUR MEMORY!

WHATEVER HAS GOTTEN INTO ME? WHY, I'M AS TALKATIVE AS A PET PARROT.
I LOVE TO HEAR YOU TALK. DON'T STOP. GO ON WITH YOUR STORY, PLEASE.
7-5
H'M! WHY SHOULDN'T I? IT WAS NEVER A SECRET. AND IT'S BEEN SO LONG SINCE I'VE HAD A SOUL TO TALK TO.
YOU WERE SAYING YOU HAD LOTS OF MONEY WHEN YOU WERE A GIRL—.
Copr. 1943, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
AND MANY BEAUX, BUT BECAUSE OF MY MONEY I WAS SUSPICIOUS. I WAS NEVER SURE WHICH THEY LOVED, ME OR MY MONEY.
BUT YOU WERE A BEAUTIFUL GIRL!

OF ALL MY SUITORS THERE WAS BUT ONE I DID LOVE, BUT HE WAS A POOR BOY.
WHY DIDN'T YOU MARRY HIM? YOU HAD MONEY!
7-6
Copr. 1943, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
SOME THOUGHT HE WAS AFTER MY FORTUNE. MISTRUST CREPT IN AND I'D BEEN RAISED TO BELIEVE I MUST MARRY MONEY.
AND YOU REFUSED HIM?
YES. MY PARENTS, THOUGH DEAD BY NOW, HAD THEIR WAY. I LIVED TO REGRET IT.
THAT WAS A SHAME!
FORGRAVE
BUT YOU DID FINALLY MARRY SOMEONE?
YES. A YOUNG MAN WHO HAD RECENTLY COME TO TOWN.
HE MUST HAVE HAD MONEY OF HIS OWN.
HE LED ME TO BELIEVE SO. HE DROVE AN EXPENSIVE CAR AND DID THINGS WITH A DASH THAT MADE AN IMPRESSION.
Copr. 1943, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
MY! THAT SOUNDS ROMANTIC!
IT SEEMED SO AT THE TIME. THE GIRLS IN TOWN WERE MAD ABOUT HIM. HE WAS CONSIDERED A CATCH.
7-7
FORGRAVE
THEN YOU MARRIED THIS MAN WHO WAS NEW IN TOWN?
YES—TO MY SORROW, FOR LATER—BUT THERE, THERE! HOW I HAVE RUN ON! WHY AM I TELLING YOU THIS?
BUT I SO SELDOM HAVE ANYONE TO TALK TO. YOU MUST PARDON ME, AND DO COME AGAIN!
I'M SORRY IT'S TIME TO GO. I WISH YOU COULD HAVE TOLD ME MORE.

OH, DEAR! I WISH I COULD HAVE HEARD THE REST OF HER STORY. SHE'S HAD SOME BIG SORROW IN HER LIFE. THAT'S EASY TO SEE.
7-8
FORGRAVE
THAT WOMAN WATHN'T A GHOST AT ALL, WAS SHE?
OF COURSE NOT! SHE'S JUST LIVED ALONE IN THAT BIG HOUSE UNTIL SHE'S AFRAID OF THE WORLD.
SOMETHING HAS HAPPENED IN HER LIFE TO SADDEN IT. IT'S MORE OR LESS A MYSTERY. SHE LET ME KNOW THAT MUCH!
Copr. 1943, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
AND THEN SHE SHUT UP LIKE A CLAM, BUT SHE DID ASK ME TO COME AGAIN. I THINK I'LL DO THAT.
GOOD-BYE, KITTY!

CHAPTER XX

When in the course of the succeeding day the Merchant Mariner had worked her way well up into the area of the Iceland Patrol, Captain Elder relaxed his vigilance long enough to take a bath, change his clothes and sit down for a good, hot meal in the officers' saloon.

"I've been writing up my report, sir," Ensign O'Reilly was saying. "My official account of the big scrap, I mean. I wonder if you'd care to substantiate my claim that we shot the periscope off that submarine?"

"Why not?" said Elder. "Nobody's going to sue us over a little thing like that! I bet they just called in the plumber and had her fixed as good as new in twenty minutes!"

"Well, maybe! But it was pretty good shooting, you've got to admit that, sir!"

"Of course it was good shooting!"

"The Navy trains good shots!"

"Yunh? Well, if you should ask me, that boy Goldberg had plenty of training with machine guns before he ever heard of the Navy! All the time he was shooting at that submarine, he had his handkerchief wrapped around the grips so's he wouldn't leave fingerprints."

Ensign O'Reilly looked at him uncertainly. He was never quite sure whether Elder was kidding or not. And with a man of Elder's pyrotechnic temper, it was uncomfortable to make mistakes.

"M'm, I see!" he murmured, noncommittally. "Still, that's—that's hardly the sort of thing I could put in my report, is it, sir?"

"No," said Captain Elder. "I suppose it isn't. But if you're looking for some really hot stuff to put in it—something with zing, zip, heart-interest oomph, a sweater and a sarong—why don't you tell 'em how Dashing Dave Elder of the U. S. Merchant Marine, met a torpedo head-on and shoved it off the sidewalk with his bow wave?"

Ensign O'Reilly inclined his head. "I have already covered the incident in my report, Captain," he said. "Er—as a matter of fact, I described it as the greatest feat of seamanship yet witnessed in this war."

"Eh? Hunm?" Now it was Elder's turn to be puzzled. "Oh, hell, no, you didn't really!"

"I certainly did, sir!" said Ensign O'Reilly, and it was plain that he spoke in earnest.

"M'mph! M'mph!" Captain Elder's neck was scarlet with embarrassment. "Well, young fellerme-lad, I hope you learned a lesson from it, anyway! The next time you see anything come rushing at you—a torpedo, a wild bull, or—or a guy named Rocket Rockwell, for instance—all you gotta do is don't!"

"Don't what, sir?" inquired Ensign O'Reilly.

"Don't get your chin in the way!" chuckled Captain Elder, reaching for the butter.

There followed uneventful days in which the Merchant Mariner plodded up between Iceland and the Faroes, then bore slightly eastward toward Norway—days which became longer and longer until only a few hours of red twilight separated one from another. For they were nearing the Arctic circle, now, and in these latitudes, summer knows no night.

"Welp, I never seen nothin' so screwy as this!" declared One Round Kid Ahearn, resting his elbow on his machine gun and shading his eyes toward the half-disc of sun which was visible above the horizon. "Ten o'clock at night, time for the main bout to go on, and it's still too light to even start the prelims!"

"Well, you oughta know!" said Texas Fitch, spitting a gob of tobacco juice over the leeward side. "But I bet it was usually as light as this by the time you regained consciousness next morning, wasn't it?"

"Aw, lay off that stuff!" Hyman Goldberg interposed. "If the Kid's records of knockouts is all in the wrong column, it's only because he didn't have the right guy handling him, see? Now, you take most of these so-called managers and what have ya got? Why, ya got parasites, that's what ya got!"

"Unh-unh! Not me!" said Texas Fitch.

"No, but what I mean! These guys'll tie up some poor stumble bum wit' a trick contract, pull down seventy or eighty per cent of the gross and never so much as lift a hand, see? But not me! Unh-unh! I earn my cut, I do! Ask any of my boys, and they'll tell ya I'm always there at the ringside, just the same as if I am right in there with 'em! Me, I really take care of my fighters! I woik for 'em! I even think of 'em!"

"You even eat for 'em!" Texas added.

"Hunh? Eat?" One Round Ahearn pricked up his cauliflower ears. "Say, ain't it pretty near time for Jeff to bring up our Mocha and sandwiches? I'm—I'm startin' to feel a little faint!"

"Just try to hang on till the bell, Kid!" Texas Fitch advised him. "If I was you, I . . ."

"Quiet, you guys!" Hyman Goldberg stood with his head tilted back and his eyes half-closed. "Listen . . . Listen! . . . Can you hear it?"

"Hear what, Hymie?"

"That noise! That—that kind of humming sound!"

"M'h . . . Reckon it's a generator or something, down in the engine room."

"It's the wind blowin' through them stays."

"No, it's not! It sounds like a—like a plane! . . . There! . . . There! Hear it now?"

"M'm. yair! Yair! But say, that's funny! I don't see no plane!"

For a moment they stood scanning the cloudless, pink-flushed sky; then Goldberg strode to the intercom telephone.

"Goldberg, sir!" he said into it. "We hear something that sounds like a plane, but . . ."

"Lookout aloft!" a voice cut in on him. "A plane approaching on the port beam, sir! Flying very low, just skimming the water. He's maybe ten or twelve miles off, sir!"

"Okay! Watch for him, Goldberg!" O'Reilly ordered. "I'll be right up."

Goldberg swung his glasses and swept them along the horizon. "There he comes! There he comes! See him, Tex?"

"No. Yes! Gosh, but he's low! Just topping the waves, like a pelican!"

"Where is he? Where is he?" demanded Ensign O'Reilly breathlessly, joining them. "Oh, yes—I've got him! H'm—well, it's not an American plane, that's a cinch! No, and I don't think it's British . . . If he'd only go up a bit higher so we could get a better silhouette . . . Ah! There he zooms! He knows we've got him spotted! Yes, by God, he's a German! He's a Focke-Wulf!"

"Oh, he is, hunh!" Hyman Goldberg pulled down the arming lever of his machine gun and let it snap back, ker-chuck! "Okay, German! You're gettin' into the wrong territory!"

When the plane had reached an aitltude of about a thousand feet, it circled around them, but stayed well out of range.

"He'll dive on us from astern," said O'Reilly. "He'll commence strafing us as soon as he starts down, and drop his bombs as he's pasing over."

"'Passing over' is right!" said Texas Fitch, grimly. "In just about two minutes from now, he'll be passing over the River Jordan!" He fell to singing a cowboy song about crossing the Jordan with his boots on.

Astern of them, the plane banked steeply and started down on an easy slant, its motors wide open. Suddenly, tracer bullets squirted from its nose like white-hot hornets. They whipped up the water, they drummed on the decks, they ricochetted off plates and winches and went criss-crossing one another, buzzing, whining, screaming . . .

RADIO ANNOUNCER CROSS TO BE ON WESTINGHOUSE 'E' PROGRAM

Milton J. Cross, widely known radio announcer, will be master-of-ceremonies at the Westinghouse Army-Navy "E" ceremonies, Wednesday, July 14, it was announced today by J. Gilbert Baird, chairman of the event.

MILTON J. CROSS

Cross will introduce representatives of the army and navy and other speakers who will take part in paying tribute to the men and women of Westinghouse whose efforts have brought them the coveted production award.

As an employe of Westinghouse 22 years ago, Cross began his career in radio. He was first heard over the air on September 15, 1921 when station WJZ was only a small room in the Westinghouse plant on the outskirts of Newark, N. J. His radio debut, however, was as a tenor soloist, not as an announcer.

In 1922 when WJZ joined the National Broadcasting company, Cross abandoned the job of writing continuities, arranging musical programs and singing and became a full-time announcer.

During the past two decades he has handled the announcing of some of the most popular radio programs. In 1929 he was awarded a gold medal for diction by the American Academy of Arts and Letters.

As plans for the Westinghouse "E" ceremony moved ahead, Chairman Baird said today Lieut.-Col. T. H. Eickhoff will represent Col. H. M. Reedall, chief of the Cleveland ordnance district.

YANKS 3 MILES FROM MUNDA IN PINCERS DRIVE

Allied Planes Pound Nearby Supporting Areas With 100 Tons of Bombs.

Japanese might offer Munda's defenders aerial support, was raided at the southern tip of Bougainville island by big American Liberators Thursday night. Their 23 tons of bombs started fires. One Liberator didn't get back.

On northeastern New Guinea, where Australian and American patrols are moving toward the enemy air base of Salamaua, the Allied planes continued to blast a path through the jungle with their bombs. In the same area where on Wednesday a concentration of 106 tons of bombs paved the way for occupation of a vital hill, Mitchell medium bombers directly supported our jungle fighters yesterday by dropping nearly 50 tons of high explosives on enemy buildings, ground installations and jungle tracks connecting villages near Salamaua.

Other formations of Mitchells bombed and strafed Japanese while Australian ground patrols maintained pressure on enemy units between Mubo and Salamaua, points 12 miles apart.

Australian-flown Hudsons and American-manned Liberators yesterday fought off 14 Zeros, destroying three for certain and possibly two others as they bombed the enemy airdrome of Penfoei at Koepang on Dutch Timor.

Japanese air efforts yesterday were the weakest reported since the outset of the new Pacific offensive June 30. Ten Zeros tried to raid the Bena Bena sector, roughly 90 miles northwest of the Salamaua, New Guinea front. Four P-38's bagged two of the Zeros and drove off the others without loss to themselves.

(The navy in Washington reported a new blow to Japanese shipping in the Pacific, saying in a Thursday communique that our submarines had sunk an additional 10 enemy transports and supply ships.)

U. S. Subs Bag Jap Vessel Every Day

WASHINGTON — (AP) — U. S. submarines, slicing through Pacific waters in ever-mounting numbers, are knocking off Japanese ships at the rate of one a day.

This terrific toll of what Japan needs most—ships to link her far-flung outposts of stolen empire—has prompted the navy to issue three special bulletins in little more than a month on the activities of its undersea arm. Ordinarily, the doings of submarines are related only after long periods of silence maintained for security reasons.

Since June 1, the American submarine packs, which Navy Secretary Knox declared were augmented steadily, have blasted to the bottom 33 Japanese supply vessels, many of them big transports, and tankers, and three destroyers. Probably sunk were two more—a transport and a tanker. Nine more ships, including a destroyer, were listed as damaged.

Sometimes vessels seen from a periscope only as being damaged sink later but submarine commanders long have adhered rigidly to the rule of calling them just as they see them. Hence, the toll of ships sunk announced in navy communiques is the very minimum.

Latest success of the submarine raiders was reported yesterday in an announcement claiming 10 more Japanese transport and supply vessels torpedoed to the bottom. Four medium sized cargo vessels were damaged.

This brought to 283 the total reported sunk or damaged in the Pacific since the attack on Pearl harbor. Of this number 200 were sunk, 29 probably sunk, and 54 damaged.

ground, against the loss of 11 Allied aircraft.

Cairo bulletins announced that U. S. Ninth Air Force Liberators dumped 250,000 pounds of high explosives on Catania in a two-wave attack yesterday, this following up a flame-setting raid upon Axis barracks at that city by RAF heavy bombers the preceding night.

(The Italian high command said in a Rome-broadcast communique that 81 persons were killed and 209 injured at Catania in repeated raids which ruined buildings and started fires in the heart of the city. It declared 26 raiders were shot down over Sicily.)

Belatedly, Cairo authorities also announced that Ninth Air Force Liberators also had broken landing surfaces, started fires and damaged grounded planes in attacks Wednesday on air fields about Gerbini, which have been the targets of frequent raids from northwest Africa.

RAF Again Batters Bomb-Pocked Cologne

LONDON—(AP)—The RAF, returning to the assault on Germany after a four-night lull in the Allied aerial offensive, made a heavy attack on the Rhineland industrial center of Cologne last night, air ministry announced today.

Eight bombers were lost in the raid, the announcement said.

Mines also were laid in enemy waters during the night and British fighters on intruder patrols simultaneously attacked enemy airfields and railway targets in France and northwest Germany. Three German minesweepers were reported damaged in sweeps along the French coast.

The heavy British bombers had scarcely returned from their night foray over Germany when formations of Allied fighters swept out across the channel in the direction of northern France to continue the offensive by daylight.

Britain, meanwhile, passed a raid-free night.

The attack on Cologne was the 119th on that bomb battered city, target of the RAF's first great 1,000-bomber raid a year ago. The big Rhineland industrial center had been attacked on June 28 and again last Saturday night.

A Berlin broadcast recorded by the Associated Press, following the usual line taken by Nazi propagandists, described last night's assault on Cologne as a "terror raid" directed against residential areas. The broadcast indicated that other targets in the Rhineland were hit in addition to Cologne, however.

The RAF night raiders were favored by good weather, the skies clearing last evening after a day of thunderstorms. Despite unfavorable conditions yesterday RAF typhoons and mustangs carried out offensive patrols over northern France and the low countries. The planes were reported to have destroyed one German aircraft and damaged several locomotives. One RAF plane was listed as lost in these sallies.

Germans Claim War Production Rises

LONDON — (AP) — A German production report, widely at variance with Allied declarations that heavy bombings have cut down Reich factory operations, asserted today that both tank and ammunition output have increased.

Production of heavy tanks, said a Berlin broadcast recorded by the Associated Press, increased 200 per cent in the six months ended with May while ammunition turned out during that month more than equalled the output for a six-month period in 1941.

NAZIS MET BY GIGANTIC RED ARMORED RUSH

Russians Shout 'We've Tamed Tiger' As Hundreds of Enemy Units Blaze.

ter-attacks steadily improved the situation to the north in the Kursk-Belgorod region.

The fifth day of the offensive brought a growing conviction in Soviet quarters that the Russians had mastered a technique for handling the 60-tonners spearheading the German armored onslaught.

"The Tigers are burning" was the caption over dispatches in the government organ Izvestia and the army organ Red Star telling of dozens of miles of battlefront studded with flaming German tanks.

The Russian "Tiger-hunters" have averaged a daily bag of roughly 500 German tanks so far in the battle, and "the Tiger is not as black as Hitler painted him," the dispatches said.

Despite the mounting confidence here, the struggle was reported developing at an unslackened pace, and some Soviet quarters predicted even more massive and intense fighting.

The Russians claimed they had knocked out 1,843 German tanks—nearly two-thirds of the enemy's reported strength available—in four days of combat which also had cost the Nazis 35,000 men killed and 810 planes.

Now it was a showdown slugfest on the gently rolling steppes around Belgorod. If the Germans lost, their first offensive of 1943 had failed. The tryout battle to test the Red army's mettle might not be repeated if lost, particularly with the Allied threat against western Europe growing rapidly.

While acknowledging the fourth German advance in four days in the Belgorod sector, the Red army reported it was holding fast in the Kursk and Orel regions to the north, and even had regained some lost ground in determined counter-attacks.

Obviously the offensive was not going according to Nazi calculation, which seemed to call for hammering armored spearheads down and up through the base of the Kursk salient, isolating its Soviet garrison, and eliminating the aggravating bulge into the German lines.

(British military experts said the Soviet position in the Belgorod area appeared "precarious." A German broadcast said Axis forces pierced the Russian line at so many points that the defenses had been overcome in great depth and length.)

Seeking to exploit their fourth advance in as many days, the Germans poured a constant stream of tank and infantry reserves into the breached Russian lines in a desperate attempt to achieve a decisive break-through that might lead to encirclement of huge Russian forces in the Kursk salient.

Even while their comrades gave ground before the southern arm of the giant German pincers, however, Red armies 165 miles to the north seized the initiative and blunted the Axis' northern spearhead with a shattering counter-attack that dislodged the enemy from several key points between Kursk and Orel.

The battle of the southern front went into its fifth day with the Germans still stepping up the tempo of their assault despite the loss of 1,843 tanks, 810 planes and more than 35,000 men in four days of some of the fiercest fighting of the entire war.

In many instances, the Russians permited the head column of Tigers to advance and then resealed their lines and destroyed the trapped panzers. The Germans finally wedged the Soviet defenses near Belgorod, however, by sheer weight of numbers, dispatches indicated.

When massed artillery fire failed to halt the German advance, the Soviets threw large tank forces of their own into battle, touching off what may be one of the largest tank clashes of the war.

Big formations of dive-bombers and other aircraft were supporting the German offensive, including one Soviet report said, the bulk of the Nazi Mediterranean air fleet and other substantial forces from western Europe.

The Russians still held superiority in the air, however, and the wrecks of hundreds of Nazi planes amid the hulks of burned-out tanks littered the battlefield.

Though stopped cold, the Germans also were hurling tens of thousands of troops, tanks and planes against Russian forces in the Orel-Kursk sector, to the north.

ing its service would destroy the foundation upon which the co-operative enterprise has been created."

The government charged that the membership structure of The Associated Press denied access to all newspapers and claimed that this was monopolistic. The department of justice attorneys, arguing in support of the government's motion for a summary judgment, contended there were no uncontroverted facts in the case. The AP denied this.

In its brief filed in answer to the request for a summary judgment, The Associated Press said:

"The government has submitted no evidence that AP has monopolized the gathering and dissemination of news." It added:

"Others can freely undertake the gathering of news and the publication of newspapers without the benefit of AP's organization or facilities, and many have done so." . . .

The brief also declared that "if news gathering were subjected to regulation at the hands of the government, newspaper would necessarily be regulated also."

In opening the arguments for the government, Charles B. Rugg, a special assistant to the attorney general, said that in the AP case the government "is not seeking to control or regulate the operation of the press of the country" nor abridge freedom of the press.

Timothy Pfeiffer, counsel for the co-operative, said there were 603 members of the AP in 1900 and added that there had been 1,890 elected since.

Judge Learned Hand made this observation from the bench during Pfeiffer's discussion of AP assessments for service:

"It looks prima facie as if newspapers in a field would have to be paid for their loss of competition when a new member enters the field and is put on a basis of fair competition thereby."

TAKEN BY DEATH

MILLERSBURG — Word has been received here of the death Tuesday of Henry Pound Karch, 72, Cincinnati attorney. The body will be brought to Millersburg for burial.

Surviving are his wife, Milly Stissler Karch, three sons, Henry of Cincinnati, Major Hubert F. Karch of Silver Lake and Lt. R. Randolph Karch of Great Lakes, Ill.; one daughter, Laura, at home, one grandson, Lt. Robert Ekleberg, who is stationed in California, two brothers, Otto, of Wooster and C. C. Karch of Fredericksburg, four sisters, Mrs. R. H. Sunkle, Mrs. F. H. Hanna and Mrs. E. W. Blaser of Cleveland and Mrs. D. M. Wenger of Smithville.

Figuring Ickes' Way, Indians Had Edge on Us All

on these shores than we can today. Look what happened to the Indians."

The Ohioan said in a house speech that Ickes' estimate that every American was worth $89,000 wasn't anything to worry about because you couldn't get your hands on it.

Recalling that the secretary estimated the total wealth of the country at $12,023,300,000,000, Jones said the $89,000 figure resulted from dividing "by 135,000 people.

"Some commentators," said Jones, "have criticized Ickes for using the government pay roll to make the calculation of wealth. I am quite satisfied to take Mr. Ickes' word that he made the calculations himself on his daily meander in his government limousine between the interior department penthouse and his chicken farm (in nearby Maryland), and make the tart comment that he had some rationing cards.

"I know he does not have a car pool, because he needs more room than six people in a crowded limousine would permit.

"Mr. Ickes invites anyone to challenge his figures, I do not have the staff to challenge figures nor the gas to do the figuring, but I am a little skeptical of the New Dealers dividing the wealth of the country."

TEMPERS TAUT, CONGRESS QUITS

Recesses until Fall After Bowing to Administration On Subsidy Program.

the senate's efforts to restore funds for the federal crop insurance program.

Not until Sept. 14, unless an emergency develops, will congress return. It will be confronted then with other gigantic tasks, among them how to raise new revenue sought by President Roosevelt, what to do about post-war planning and foregin policy.

Here are some of the results of its work thus far:

1. A pay-as-you-go tax collection bill.
2. A punishment-dealing anti-strike measure.
3. Record smashing appropriations of more than $114,000,000,000.
4. A ban against President Roosevelt's $25,000-after-tax-limitation on earned income.
5. Abolition of the National Youth administration (NYA) and the National Resources Planning board (NRPB).
6. Curtailment of the Office of War Information's (OWI) domestic activities.
7. Continuation of the lend lease act.
8. Extension of the administration's power to enter into reciprocal trade treaties with other countries.
9. A boost in the national debt to $210,000,000,000.
10. Ultimate liquidation of the federal crop insurance program.
11. A statute subjecting war brokers to renegotiation of "excessive" profits.

It was a job known to every housewife—the problem of trying to make ends meet—that gave congress its toughest assignment, and out of the struggle came a measure to put the nation's taxpaying millions on a pay-as-you-go basis by imposing a 20 per cent withholding levy on wages and salaries.

Unprecedented military appropriations were whisked through both houses by overwhelming votes, but on some other questions there developed a tug-o-war between congress and the president, with the law-makers demonstrating determination to gain greater control over administration agencies.

Mr. Roosevelt suffered the sternest rebuff in his 11 years as chief executive when congress, its temper aroused by stoppage of work in the coal mines, overrode his veto of a far-reaching anti-strike bill.

The recess began without an extension of the six-year-old bituminous coal act under which the administration sought to regulate the soft coal industry. The act expires Aug. 23.

Votes 114 Billions In Just Six Months

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The 78th congress in six months appropriated $114,000,000,000 in new money—enough to aim $7,000 worth of bullets at each Axis soldier.

The total approved by the lawmakers from the time they convened in January until the start of a summer recess yesterday was $33,000,000,000 short of the previous high in congressional spending for one session. However, the actual direct appropriations to the armed forces was a record.

The stupendous sums provided for the army and navy this year are calculated to give the United States the biggest air and naval forces the world ever has seen.

Direct appropriations for the war department were $59,034,839,673, exclusive of $12,472,839,200 in reappropriation of funds provided in previous years but not spent. The navy's share of the 1943-44 outlay was $31,473,402,317. Last year the navy got $25,558,982,181 and the army $42,820,006,365 plus a carry-over of $29,900,000,000 in money previously appropriated.

Two checks totaling more than $100 were cashed at a Mansfield bank and a sporting goods store, Bates said. The youth was tripped up, however, on the third when an employe of the Sears Roebuck store became suspicious and called the Farm bureau when the check was presented.

A Farm bureau check writer which was used by the youthful forger was located back of the Farm bureau offices. Three of the six checks taken from the stolen book were defaced in the process of writing them, the youth told detectives.

through the wall to Capt. McDonough who told him he could hear the other men begging to be removed from the timbers that pinned them.

Members of two or three fire companies were fighting the fire on the upper floors of the building when the walls suddenly collapsed, crashing through the floors and plunging the firemen into the basement.

Tons of precariously balanced brick and timber, smouldering and sometimes ablaze, hampered the rescue work and periled the lives of those engaged in it.

Debris fell almost constantly on Father Gorman and those entomed alive. Adding to the terror was water, not only seepage, but actual torrents.

At times the rescuers were driven back by flames leaping from the smouldering mass, forcing hose lines again into play. More than once Fireman Stenski cried:

"You're drowning us."

There was no alternative, however, but to take the risk.

Often the trapped Capt. McDonough pleaded with Fire Marshal Corrigan:

"Get the pressure off us, Mike. Get it off."

And Corrigan would reply:

"We're working as fast as we can, Matt. But it's slow."

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, JULY 9, 1943.

How times change! Some will recall when railroads offered excursion rates to stimulate travel.

There's a "use tax" on the auto of which you get little use, and now there'll be a "pay-as-you-go tax"—with no place to go.

According to Senator Barkley, "our generation can expect little in the way of tax relief"—which might easily be mistaken for a hint of fourth term candidacy.

Recess for Non-Stop Congress

EVEN after more than 1,200 days of continuous session congress is not ready for adjournment—merely hopeful of enjoying a summer recess, which can be abruptly shortened if emergency requires.

This non-stop record started in January 1940, with the third session of the 76th congress; extended through the 77th congress, which remained in continuous session, and has carried well into the present 78th congress, which is a considerable departure from the heavily Democratic-New Deal legislative bodies that immediately preceded it.

In 1940 and through the greater part of 1941 congress was more concerned with promotion of New Deal policies than with preparations for effective participation in a war that then seemed to some Americans to be Europe's "quarrel."

Isolationists were doing much talking and their influence was reflected in the slowness with which the United States moved toward preparedness for the war into which the nation was suddenly plunged on December 7, 1941 when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor.

Since that time, whether or not accomplishments have been all that could be desired, members of both houses of congress have been busy with matters related to financing and carrying on the war, including earnest efforts to curb administrative bureaucracy and to perpetuate the democratic form of government.

Burdened with responsibility for devising plans for raising unprecedented sums of money for war purposes, congress has at times shown inclination to place a rein on wasteful expenditures for non-military purposes, and the effort to require senate confirmation of appointees paid $4,500, or more, a year, seemed more designed to effect economies than to assume added responsibilities.

However critical some may be of the present congress, it has at least shown ability to do independent thinking, and seems deserving of the vacation its members will now be privileged to enjoy.

Mansfield Marine Rebukes Strikers

A GUESS would be that Pfc. Clifford L. Wagner, former Mansfield boy who is now in the marine corps, is somewhere in the Pacific fighting area, as his address is through the San Francisco postoffice and it takes a letter a month or more to reach him, although an air mail reply to his former employer here bears date of June 24.

"Mail is always welcome," he says. "We don't get much mail out here but we are all very glad to get what we do. There isn't much we can write about; I wouldn't want to make too much work for the censor."

But there was one thing that he could say, although less vehemently than it has been said by some of his comrades. "What burns me up," he says, "is all those fellows striking back in those coal mines. I know many fellows who would be glad to trade places with them. They don't know when they are well off. There is no place like the U. S. A."

While specific reference is made to the strike of coal miners, it is toward instigation and participation in ALL strikes that service men register surprise and resentment, for they realize that it is their life that is being jeopardized by the minutes, days and months that the war may be lengthened by reduced production of military equipment due to strikes.

Cuyahoga Falls Bans 'Gyp' Carnival

HOWEVER tolerant a city administration may be toward gambling rackets operated by "home town boys," action by the Cuyahoga Falls mayor in ordering a "gyp" carnival company to "get out of town immediately," seems fully justified under the reported circumstances—and may be worthy of emulation by other city executives.

As customary, the carnival was brought to Cuyahoga Falls under creditable auspices, for the laudable purpose of "raising money for more recreational equipment and activities," but it was found—also as usual—that the carnival was loaded with crooked gambling devices and lewd shows.

Whatever excuse may be found for permitting such "attractions" to come into a city and rob and contaminate the community at other times, it appears indefensible to allow that sort of operation during wartime, when money is badly needed for promotion of the war effort and when juvenile delinquency tends to get out of bounds without any such stimulus.

Sizing Up the Japanese

RACIAL comparisons are sometimes offensive, but there is no harm in sizing up the Japanese. Although wartime judgments may often be unfair, it does seem as if, by this time, it is possible to get a rather straight line on the Japs as competitors in this modern world. War is a good test of basic qualities.

The general impression now seems to be that the Japs are really inferior to the white races and also to some of the colored races. In the latter group they surely rank below the Chinese, mentally and ethically.

The self-vaunted superiority of the Japanese over the white races, which their leaders have asserted so strongly of late, has been clearly disproved in the present war. Ethically the Japanese are bankrupt, as a result of their broken peace pledges, disregard of treaties, barbarous modes of warfare and cruel treatment of prisoners.

Although professedly reared in chivalry for a thousand years, much of their behavior shows them not far removed from savagery. They can fight and die for their country, but they ignore international standards of humane conduct. Their culture and ideals seem considerably lower than those of various other Asiatics whom they profess to scorn.

A prophecy that came true: "If the peace presently to be made is to endure, it must be a peace made secure by the organized force of mankind." So said Woodrow Wilson, and he is borne out by planes over Germany and the Pacific.

HONORS TO WHOM HONORS ARE DUE

Meddling Caused Meat Shortage

By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — The meat situation in the country, especially the beef situation, is a perfect illustration of how easily a mess can be made by attempted governmental regulation, once natural laws are suspended.

It is a bit tragic, because here are literally hundreds of the cleverest brains in the country scheming to force a more perfect world, a world better for everybody, one in which a benevolent government will direct each individual precisely what to eat, what to wear, and what to do, not only in business, but for pleasure.

In the particular case of beef the only rational explanation of what has been done is that these reformers want to abolish the big packers. So far they have pretty nearly succeeded in putting the LITTLE packers out of business, but give them time.

Meanwhile the American housewife is being deprived of meats for her family—war workers are eating substitutes, and cattle which ought to be slaughtered are eating industriously into the nation's stock of feed at a rate which spells disaster for next year.

OFFICIALS prate about the need for small sacrifice — to which no one dissents—and claims the "shortage" of meat is due to the needs of our fighting men and our fighting allies. That would be all right if it were true, but it simply is not true.

The fact is that our fighting allies are not keeping the cattle population of this country down to a reasonable proportion with the available amount of feed to keep them going.

The answer is simple. Government authorities have fixed a price on meat, but wholesale and retail. They have not fixed a price on the hoof. The cattle and sheep and hog raisers, but especially cattle, KNOW the price which slaughter houses are able to pay them, in view of the ceiling prices at which the slaughter houses can sell, is LESS than the price justified by the demand. So, they figure, the price will go up.

They know this in part because black market operators are willing, every chance they get, to pay the cattle raisers more than the packers are able to offer, but they know it also instinctively. They have been in cattle raising for some time, most of them, and they know prices are going to be higher.

SO NATURALLY they hold their cattle. Now if this were wheat, being held by its owners in barns, not much difference would be made. The farmers doing the holding would either get a better price later on or not. But it is impossible to hold meat animals off the market without repercussions.

In this case the trouble lies in the feed which the animals are consuming. Indeed it is very apt to cut sharply into the advance in price when and if it comes. But more important it cuts into a very serious shortage of feed that already exists.

For war purposes there is simply an insatiable demand for starch. Not long before he severed his connection with the office of food czar Chester Davis told friends that nothing in the foreseeable future offered the slightest possibility of this country getting as much starch as it absolutely required! That is still true. That situation will get worse before it gets better.

And here we have prime beef animals which the farmers would love to sell at a fair price, which the packers would love to buy at a fair price, which now idle employes of the packers would like to handle so they can get their wages, and which the country yearns for in the form of roasts and steaks, eating steadily and relentessly into this stock of starch!

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

WELL the senate committee on post-war planning is going to take up the subject of how industry can go about reconverting after the war . . . and it's about time.

Most of our post-war planning has been along the line of aiding the Bolivian tin miners (Wallace) or gauging the manpower needed to wire some European country for electricity (Perkins).

But you ask "what's going to happen in Detroit after the war?" and you get a blank look.

* * *

Every step in manufacture today is controlled by the federal government. It has control over manpower (personnel), contracts, materials, sales, prices, deliveries and even consumers and use.

* * *

Not a step toward tooling up, toward hiring or firing, toward buying or selling after the war could be taken until government gave the word.

You won't get that new automobile, that new ironer, those new plastics until somebody says "O. K. boys . . . go to work." And that's what the senate committee wants to find out . . . who's going to say it and what plans are being made. They can be made today as well as next year or two years from now.

* * *

Thought for the day: World planning begins at home.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Monday, July 9, 1923

Pacifists were jubilant over announcement that, within a few months, the U. S. army would be reduced to 90,000 men.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Laser moved into newly purchased home at 50 Reba avenue.

Art Simms, 45, former Mansfield pugilist, died in Cleveland.

William R. Day, 74, of Cleveland, former justice of U. S. supreme court, died.

Exchange club entertained children at county children's home with picnic and automobile ride.

Mrs. W. A. Partello and son Winthrop, 152 Western avenue, left for trip to Yellowstone park.

Miss Jeannette Platt went to New York to enter Columbia university for special studies.

R. C. Tracht, 57, Galion attorney, died.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Dorothy Thompson, the columnist and broadcaster now honeymooning with her third husband, is 49 years old today. She was born in Lancaster, N. Y., on this date in 1894.

Daily Bible Thought

God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.—John 3:16.

As Others See It

Fair Enough.

As the fourth term plans shape up the nation ought to insist that Harry Hopkins run for something and face the voters.—Kansas City Times.

Americanism.

First he builds a little house; then he grows rich and builds a showplace, and not one of his heirs is able to pay taxes on it.—Akron Beacon Journal.

Words of the Wise

Greatness lies not in being strong, but in the right using of strength.—Henry Ward Beecher.

We should be as courteous to a man as we are to a picture, which we are willing to give the advantage of the best light.—Emerson.

Dave Boone Says:

WELL, we all knew it was bound to come in time. Germany has issued a white paper charging that Churchill and Roosevelt are to blame for the brutal air warfare. They started the whole thing, Berlin says. Hitler was always much opposed to aerial warfare and kept trying to avoid it, according to the new white paper which is strictly true to traditions.

There was kindly, humane, tender-hearted Adolf, when the war began, with one great fear. He was afraid somebody would get hurt needlessly. He held off until the RAF had bombed Berlin five times!

Warsaw and all those other places where the civil populations thought they were ruthlessly blitzed were mistaken. The Nazis didn't do it. It was Churchill and Roosevelt.

And when Churchill and Roosevelt were blasting Poland, Hitler was standing to one side, urging them to refrain from such tactics. He did it until his patience ran out.

* * *

It's only a matter of time before the Nazis will deny they were ever over Rotterdam, London or Coventry. And that destruction of Lidice. Roosevelt and Churchill did that, too, of course.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

FDR Sees an Obscure Official To Get Lowdown on Cartel Deal

WASHINGTON—The other day a young Texan named Creetmore Fath nearly fell off his chair in the Board of Economic Warfare when he got a call from the White House:

"General Watson calling. The president would like to see you at 11:15."

Creetmore Fath is a relatively obscure official in the Board of Economic Warfare whom very few people have heard about. But he is also one of the fightingest young men in the BEW, especially when it comes to a certain subject in which the president has shown considerable interest — namely, whether we shall follow Germany and inspire cartels in Latin America.

The issue long has been debated backstage in regard to American Cyanamid, to which the state department proposes granting a monopoly of all the former Nazi drugs and chemical companies in Mexico. Creation of this monopoly is extremely important because it would set a pattern for other Latin American countries.

Leo Crowley, forthright alien property custodian, has opposed the American Cyanamid deal; also Attorney General Biddle. They had argued that Cyanamid, once closely linked with the Nazi I. G. Farbenindustrie, would create another giant chemical trust in Mexico which might get into German hands after the war. Also they have favored the American principle of free competition in Mexico.

Picture Distorted.

THE PRESIDENT agreed with them, sent a written memo to Crowley, and a decision supposedly was made to inform the Mexican government to this effect. Then the state department, in drafting a note to Mexico, distorted the picture, so actually it appeared that the United States had no objection to the American Cyanamid deal.

Hearing about this, the president called in the man who knows most about the whole thing, young Creetmore Fath.

When Fath got to the White House, the president sat back and listened. He hardly said a word. After Fath had finished telling him how the state department had twisted the previous decision of Crowley, Biddle and the president himself, FDR made this remark:

"Any time you want to come and see me again, just call up and tell "Pa" Watson that another Cyanamid is being pulled off."

Immediately thereafter, the president sent for Assistant Secretary of State Dean Acheson, Vice President Wallace, Attorney General Biddle and Leo Crowley. Then he proceeded to bawl out the state department, said that his instructions had not been carried out, and that from now on he would handle his own dealings with Mexico on American Cyanamid.

Free and Fair.

AFTER that the president did a most unusual thing. He wrote a personal letter to his friend, President Avila Camacho of Mexico, telling him in no uncertain terms that the United States was for free and fair competition, not for an American cartel along Nazi lines in Mexico.

Note: The called in of Creetmore Fath, the man who knew most about American Cyanamid, is similar to what the president used to do in the old days when he kept an eagle eye on domestic problems and was not giving most of his time to admirals and generals.

This incident, plus the firing of Chester Davis, the two vetoes on the anti-strike bill and subsidies, and the withdrawal of George Henry Payne from the FCC, has convinced White House friends that FDR is now determined to get back to the battle of the domestic front. Commissioner Payne had sided with the Dies committee in voting to oust FCC employes Dodd and Watson.)

Hoover on Stalin.

FRIENDS of Herbert Hoover say that it would scorch paper to write down what he has to say about relations between Roosevelt and Stalin and the Joe Davies "Mission to Moscow."

In the first place, Hoover says that Stalin should be told what to do, not pandered to.

He also says that the mysterious letter Davies carried to Stalin was a proposal that Stalin meet with the president at some convenient place. Teheran was suggested with the qualification that if Stalin could not leave the country, Roosevelt would be willing to come all the way to Moscow.

Stalin is reported to have rejected the whole business, saying he was too much engrossed in the duty of defending his country.

Note: Hoover is reported by friends to have conferred recently with Chief of Staff General Marshall.

"Liberal" Martin Dies.

IT ISN'T often that rangy Representative Martin Dies of Texas, the un-Americanism hawkshaw, strikes a blow for the administration. However, he went down the line with other Democrats in voting to sustain the president's veto of the Commodity Credit bill, which was amended to block the price roll-back program.

The day before the vote, Dies explained his position with an impromptu stump speech in the speaker's "lobby" that had New Dealers within earshot gasping for breath.

"The powers behind this legislation are the forces of reaction," thundered the amiable Texan. "They're getting entirely too strong in this country. We've got to stop them."

New Dealers standing nearby listened in petrified amazement to the gentleman famous for his administration-baiting.

One New Dealer present whistled softly, said, "Will wonders never cease? Mr. Dies has gone liberal."

Merry-Go-Round.

JUST a year ago, submarines were so thick in the Gulf of Mexico that United States sailors home on leave from duties in Panama were unable to get back to the Canal Zone. Today, the U-boats have been completely driven out of the Gulf. . . . Gardner Cowles, who kept denying he would resign from OWI and help Willkie's campaign, finally is willing to admit it. After a holiday in the Minnesota lake country, he will become brain truster for Wendell Willkie. . . . Cowles makes three predictions about the 1944 campaign. . . . If Willkie can get the Republican nomination without splitting the party, he will be the next president. . . . The Republican strategy will be to wage the campaign on domestic issues, avoiding international questions. . . . The food shortage will be a leading political issue in the coming campaign.

ERNIE PYLE

Roving Reporter

Ernie Does Some Dignified "Snooping" And Finds Out a Lot About the WACs.

(Third of Five Articles on the WACs)

NORTH AFRICA—(By Wireless)—For some weird and unfathomable reason known only to the strange creatures themselves, women love to drill. But the WACs in North Africa don't get to do much drilling. They're too busy doing their regular jobs.

Those of the WACs who live at the edge of town in a convent are marched about a quarter of a mile every morning to board the trucks that take them downtown. That and a 15-minute drill period once a week is all the drilling they get.

The ones who live in an old office building downtown don't even get that. In fact they don't even have reveille. Horn-tooting at sunrise would be impractical, for the girls work shifts clear around the clock, like factory workers, and at dawn many of them have barely got to sleep.

Their home life is very much like life at college. They sleep in double-decker beds, some of them French iron beds, some carpentered from boards. All the beds have springs. The girls sleep between army blankets, with one rough sheet. They are issued seersucker pajamas, either light blue or peach-colored. Their rooms are crowded. There isn't too much space to put things.

AFTER careful yoo-hooing and peeking ahead by the officer in command, I was allowed to snoop around into the sacred precincts of the girls' dormitories and rooms. Everything was neat, since the girls are soldiers now. They make their own beds, and do their own washing. Practically every one of them brought an electric iron from home. Probably the most typical sight in a WAC barracks is a girl bending over an ironing board.

In the downtown barracks the girls hang their washing on half of the roof, keeping the other half for sunbathing. Clotheslines are constantly filled with brown stockings, slips, shirts and panties.

The officer who took me around said: "You're the first man who has ever seen this many pairs of WAC panties at one time."

And I said: "Madam, due to the rigors of old age and the encroachment of war work upon my spare time I have never seen even one pair of WAC panties before."

Each girl is issued three khaki skirts and nine shirts. They are not allowed to roll up their sleeves, and they must wear the cotton stockings that are issued to them. French girls who are the equivalent of our WACs wear anklets, which look infinitely better.

The girls are not allowed to wear jewelry, except signet or wedding rings and wrist watches. The first week they were here it was a poor WAC indeed who didn't have at least three Algerian bracelets showered upon her by startled and adoring G. I.s, but since they weren't allowed to wear them, most of them sent the bracelets home.

The girls have to wear dog-tags around their necks, the same as soldiers, but every one of them has her tag on a silver or gold chain instead of the army's piece of string.

The girls don't have much time for dates. Those on daytime shifts work from 8 to 5, and many of them go back at night to work some more. Those who don't have to work at night use that time to do their washing, pressing and letter-writing.

Lights go out at 10 o'clock, and the roll is taken every night to catch anybody who is staying out. Each girl gets an 11 o'clock pass once a week, and half a day off once a week.

Every one of the girls has already learned passable French, and some of them are expert at it.

THERE are frequent dances and beach parties, given by various army units. When one of these is planned, the army sends notice that so many WACs are wanted. The notice is put on a bulletin board, and any WACs who want to go put down their names.

When mail arrives, a list of those who have letters is put on the bulletin board. The day I was there the typewritten list was headed, "Come and get it, you sweet little things."

There is also a full length mirror near the front door of the downtown barracks, and above the mirror a sign which says, "Check Your Appearance."

I don't believe the girls have as many pictures beside their beds as the average soldier living in permanent quarters. You see a few photographs of parents and nephews, but the boy pictures I noticed were 100 per cent of men in uniform. Many of the WACs are engaged to boys back home who are now in the service.

A good many romances are blooming among those not already engaged, but so far there have been no marriage requests. Some 18 per cent of the WACs in Africa were already married when they enlisted.

Every box and window sill at WAC quarters is filled with ointments, lotions, salves, pastes and creams. They brought a year's supply with them when they came, and now the post exchange has plenty for sale. Consequently your WACs are spared that unspeakable condition known as being non-cosmetic.

A Farmer's Diary

By CALVIN A. BYERS

Quail Habits

THE DEW was heavy on the grass just after dawn, when I pushed through the misty sprays along a grassy clearing to where a clump of elder bushes stood. Level rays of morning sun began to shine on the eastern side. Here I planned to go and warm my dripping feet, roll down the legs of my trousers and watch the foggy vapor rise above the valley to greet the sun.

Before I got too close I saw wee moving feathered objects. Stealthily I crept closer to the elders until my left hand touched a leafy branch. I pulled it back a little, admiring the creamy lacy bloom, and peered through.

Ten feet beyond, in a spot where no grass grew, I saw a brood of quail. I counted sixteen, preening their feathered coats. As some stood on tiptoe and flapped dark stubby wings, their bodies appeared no larger than tennis balls. They were wet, from the dripping grass, as I was. The soft down about the tiny legs hung weighted and moist. How wonderful the warmth of that morning sun shining on the open ground and reflected against the clump of elders must feel on those little tender bodies.

I listened to the low contented chirps and could well understand the rise of spirits—the strange effusive voice of bodily completeness. Prattle it was, not meant for human ears . . . a rest from toilsome wanderings in a haven where, for the present every bird want was supplied.

I observed their stubby tail feathers flip up and down as each drew oil upon a pointed beak and lubricated itself. This too, gave added satisfaction. They seemed to know that oil and water did not mix, for they bared their moistened breast and neck feathers to the drying heat of the sun for a while before they began to apply this bodily lubrication, drawn from a tiny opening just above the triangular tail piece.

The mother stayed in the background, nor did she express a single note. Her children's behavior was as it should be. This little season of comfort and preening and pleasant rest is a natural part of their life. The spot of sunshine, the fruitful meadow with its abundant insects, the sweet seeds of early flowers, blue sky above and bending lacy blooms of the elders are heritage of the quail.

They are a part of it, and even hold a mortgage on every quart of milk, every pound of golden butter, every load of hay that fills the farmer's mow. They give so much and ask so little in return. Crops are safer for their presence. I am glad that in our state they are on the songbird list.

CORRINNE LASER WEDS PVT. V. K. BRUBAKER

Parents Tell of Wedding Solemnized June 19 at Camp Carson, Colorado; Close Friends Attend Couple.

MR. AND MRS. G. A. LASER, 229 Clairmont avenue, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Corrinne S. Laser, to Pvt. Virgil K. Brubaker, son of Mrs. Howard Brubaker of Lucas. The ceremony took place at Camp Carson, Colorado, in a chapel on June 19, at 2 o'clock.

Palms, ferns and beauty baskets of roses, carnations and mixed summer flowers formed a pretty background for the service. The double ring ceremony was performed by Chaplain John F. Herion. Attendants for the couple were Pvt. and Mrs. Michael Mutchick, close friends of the couple.

During the exchange of wedding vows the soft strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me" could be heard.

The bride wore a street length frock of moss green crepe with white trim. It was fashioned with a draped bodice. Her corsage was an orchid. Her only jewelry was pearls and she carried a lace handkerchief which had been carried by her sister at her wedding.

Mrs. Mutchick wore an ivory crepe frock trimmed with bands of luggage and light green. Her accessories were luggage and white. She wore a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Brubaker graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and has been employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. She will make her home with her parents for the present. Pvt. Brubaker was graduated from Ashland high school and before induction last November was employed at the Plumbrook ordnance plant.

Mary Markley Society Meets In Loudonville

Mrs. J. Woodrow Seitz, Loudonville, entertained members of the Mary Markley society of the St. Paul Lutheran church Thursday evening at her home. Topic of the program was "Lutheran Neighbors In the North," which was presented by Mrs. William Huck, jr.

Routine business was discussed in charge of the president, Miss Katherine Miller. Mrs. Charles Huck gave the auditing report.

Following the social hour refreshments were served at small tables. Rev. H. L. Gilbert and Mr. Seitz were guests at the meeting. The next session will be held Aug. 12 at the home of Mrs. John Merkle, 395 West Sixth street. Mrs. Russell Hawk will present the topic.

St. Agnes Guild Makes Plans for Picnic Supper

Plans were made for a picnic supper when the St. Agnes Guild of the Grace Episcopal church met Thursday night in the undercroft of the church with Mrs. O. O. Brenner as hostess.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. M. B. Ballantine, president. The group decided to have the picnic on July 16 at North Lake park for the members and their families.

Chairmen of the committees for the fiscal year were appointed by the president. Following the business session, luncheon was served by the hostess.

The next regular meeting will be on September 9 The place and hostesses will be announced later.

AUXILIARY MEETS.

Auxiliary No. 4 to the Sons of Union Veterans met Wednesday night at the courthouse. Miss Mary Beilstein, president, conducted the business session at which time a report on the convention held last week was given. Mrs. Jane Beelman was elected patriotic instructor. The next meeting will be on Aug. 4.

We Club Group Meets Thursday

We club members were entertained Thursday evening at the home of Miss Annie Burger, 455 Lexington avenue. One guest, Mrs. Faye Lehnhart, was in attendance.

Bouquets of mixed summer flowers decorated the home. The business session was conducted by Mrs. Esther Moser, president, at which time a letter was read from Mrs. Louise Morgan, a former member, who is now residing in Washington, D. C.

Mrs Jane Neff invited the group to a party Thursday evening, Aug. 12 at the home of Mrs. Mary Moser, 120 South Foster street.

Cards were the diversion with prizes won by Mrs. Esther Moser, Mrs. Neff and Mrs. Lehnhart.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, July 10.

Saturn's day holds pledges of substantial and enduring rewards for service well rendered, fidelity to duty and responsibilities, together with determined and patient effort to achieve sensible ends. Industry and application are virtues bringing their own rewards. If the way seems blocked in one direction, there should be hearty and solid encouragement from friends, intimates and those in influential positions. The personal element and finer equipment of mind and heart may prove attractive for desired attention and support in business or purely private ambitions or relations.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of solid growth and advancement, not only through their own faithful and sound efforts and abilities, but through their singular personal charm, their superior mental and perhaps spiritual qualities. Tact, courtesy and personality should attract in business as well as in romantic appeal. Grace and culture are factors for enduring success and happiness.

A child born on this day may have much stability of character, sound mentality and capabilities, with the subtler attractions of a gracious personality and spiritual force to win friends and supporters of worth.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Initiations to Be Held Soon For Tri Kappas

Plans for formal and informal initiation of pledges to the Kappa Kappa Kappa sorority were made last evening when members met at the home of Mrs. Robert Haag, 80 Marion avenue. This was a called session for special business.

Mrs. Haag was appointed chairman for the formal initiation service to be held July 26 at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. She and her committee composed of Mrs. Milton Weidner, Mrs. Obed Crownover, jr., and Miss Mary Kirkpatrick will arrange for the place of the service.

Informal initiation will take place Monday evening, July 19 at the home of Mrs. Weldon Spurgeon, 356 West Fourth street. Mrs. Alex Schwaner, president, conducted the business meeting last evening.

Pledges to be initiated are Mrs. Louis Rein, Mrs. Robert Cramer, Mrs. Harper Au, Mrs. Edward Harmon, Mrs. Robert Balliett and Miss Viola Gregoria.

Pitfalls of Love

(A sequel to Marriage Meddlers)
By ADELE GARRISON

"SUPPOSE," Dicky said a bit huskily, "that you go back to your chair. I find you a bit—devastating."

Ruth Hayes gave a gratified little laugh. I could have told her that the huskiness in my husband's voice came from pure rage, but she evidently thought that it sprang from emotion.

"Suppose I don't want to?" she said softly. "Suppose I find you devastating, too?"

"By the Lord Harry!" he said, "I thought I could stand this, but I can't. It's too much for even my thick hide!"

Still she misunderstood him, for she laughed gaily again.

"Why, you big cave man!" she exclaimed. "But I don't get you. What's too much for you?"

"You are!" Dicky said, and there was a sudden venom in his voice which I guessed must have made Ruth Hayes sit up and take notice. For through the crack in my closet door which I had widened, I saw her start, and look curiously at him.

"I told you a minute ago," Dicky went on, "that I found you a bit devastating. I used the word on purpose to see if you were as conceited a fool as I have been told you were. And I found out that you are, definitely. You immediately jumped to the conclusion that you were going to be able to bamboozle me into doing your dirty work for you."

"Why—why—" Ruth Hayes stammered, starting to rise from her chair. But Dicky put out his hand none too gently and thrust her back into it. I saw her move her hand stealthily toward her pocket, and almost cried out a warning to my husband. But the next instant I realized that he needed none.

"I assure you," he said silkily, "that it won't do you a bit of good to unlimber that rod of yours. I have you covered from my right-hand coat pocket, and my trigger finger has been itching ever since you sounded off so venomously about my wife and Mrs. Bickett."

Ruth Hayes had courage. I admitted that, as she said tauntingly: "I suppose this is an example of your chivalry and breeding!"

"I am afraid you are under a misapprehension," he said coldly. "I use my chivalry and breeding when I am speaking to women like my wife and Mrs. Bickett. I do not waste them on a female who is a cross between a cobra and a polecat, with my apologies to both the reptile and the mammal."

"Why,—you—you—!" she screeched, straining upward out of her chair. But again Dicky threw her back against the cushions.

"I'd advise you not to get me really riled," he warned. "If you can behave yourself and listen quietly while I get a few things off my chest, I'll let you go back to your kennel unmolested. But if you interrupt me again, I shall call the police and tell them—well, anything that happens to come into my mind, maybe a charge of breaking and entering would stick best."

"You wouldn't dare," she whispered, and I guessed that she could not speak aloud for the sheer rage which had her by the throat.

"Oh, wouldn't I?" he retorted with something in his voice that must have convinced her of his deadly seriousness, for she sank back in her chair, and began to twist her hands together.

"And you know you wouldn't like that a little bit, because you've been teetering on the border line a long while, and it's my bet the cops have something on you.

"But that's neither here nor yet there," he went on slowly. "What I'm going to do just now is my good deed for today. I'm going to hold up a mirror to you, and let you see yourself as you appear to the Grahams and the Bicketts,—the people whom for some God-forsaken reason you've chosen to pester with your asinine questions."

"The Wilderness Woman in person!" he said.

SHY ITALIAN FLEET POSES AXIS PROBLEM

Duce's Navy Has Suffered Three Severe Losses, Faces Air Threat.

The timidity of the Italian fleet is a strong factor in favor of the Allies in any forthcoming operations in the Mediterranean, a veteran correspondent writes in the following dispatch, which assesses Allied and Axis strength in the important theater of operations.

By VIRGIL PINKLEY
(UP Staff Corerspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa—Increased Allied sea and air power and the reluctance of the Italian fleet to come out and fight represent one of the major problems for the Axis as they attempt to frame their defense of the Mediterranean and adjoining territory.

The Allied fleet and air armadas have won new and valuable bases as a result of the Tunisian campaign, and our strength in these two vital categories of three-dimensional warfare has grown steadily.

Meantime Italian sea power has declined. Mussolini's fleet is so badly dispersed it would be extremely difficult to assemble sufficient power to offer anything like formidable opposition to any Anglo-American move through the Mediterranean.

The great flexibility of our land and sea forces enables us to strike a number of Mediterranean targets—the mainland of southern Europe as well as the islands—simultaneously or one after another in rapid-fire order.

The Italian fleet has suffered a number of severe losses, especially in cruisers and small ships and merchantmen. As the Fascist admirals study their line-up today, they must be exceedingly uncomfortable because parts of the fleet are parked along the Adriatic and also at the heel of Italy while other units are strung out along the western side of the mainland all the way from Naples to Genoa. Trying to assemble these scattered ships would be a major undertaking and would expose Mussolini's navy to Allied naval and air power.

With the Allies holding Malta, Pantelleria, Algeria and Tunisia, it would be be almost suicidal to try to run ships from eastern or south-eastern ports through the narrow Sicilian channel, which is only nine miles wide. This alleyway now is almost dominated by Allied aircraft and ships.

In three major sea clashes in the war Italy has suffered heavily. First was the battle of Matapan in which the ships of Admiral Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham scored a smashing victory during the time it takes to drink an after-dinner cup of coffee and almost without having the paint scratched from the British ships.

Then Cunningham's air arm flew straight into Taranto harbor and delivered a spirited torpedo attack which further reduced Italian sea power and resulted in the policy of keeping the Fascist units tightly sealed up in Italy's most remote harbors.

The third was the Tunisian campaign during which hundreds of thousands of tons of Italian ships were sunk or damaged. The losses were especially heavy in tankers, merchantmen and small boats such as E-boats and destroyers.

The cruiser Trieste was sunk, the heavy cruiser Gorizia was heavily damaged by Flying Fortresses and other Fortresses damaged an Italian Littorio class battleship at La Spezia.

Should the Italians attempt to run ships from southeastern or eastern Italy to some port such as Naples, La Spezia or Genoa, they would be forced to swing around Sicily or attempt to thread the narrow, swift channel between Messina or Reggio Calabria and Italy.

This channel varies in width from two to nine miles and such moves would be observed by alert air forces of the watchful Allied naval forces.

Once such a move was made, our sea and air forces would pounce on the Italian ships like a pack of ravenous wolves. Such a development is something Cunningham, Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur W. Tedder, Lieut. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle and others dream about but is very unlikely to happen.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

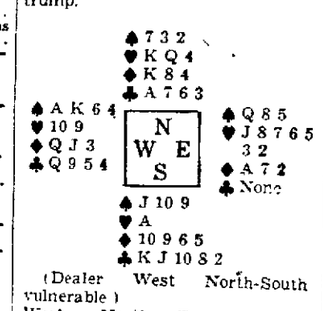
BY

Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

DISCARD ON A LOSER

You may have noticed the stress placed in this department on the avoidance of ordinary mistakes of bidding and play as against the making of fancy or complicated moves. The reason is that more than nine-tenths of the difference between winning and losing bridge is found in the non-spectacular performance of those players who accept their share of gifts from the opponents' errors and give back a minimum of them by their own slips. One very simple, but important, play in this category is the discarding of a sure loser on a trick an opponent is certain to ruff with a high trump.



(Dealer vulnerable)

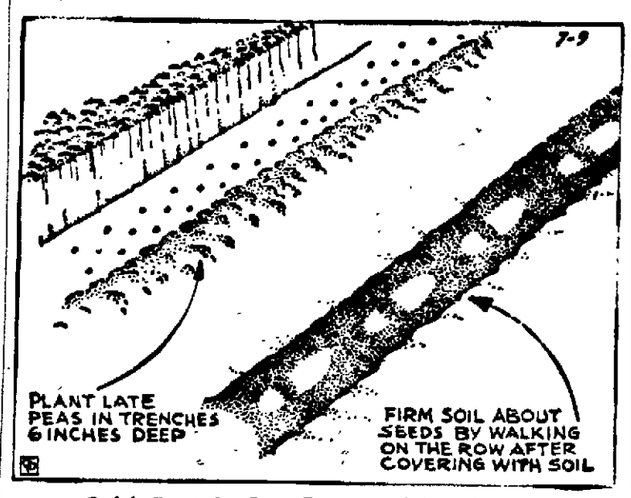
West	North	East	South
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	4 ♥

South led his diamond 10, which brought forth the J. K. and A. East led the heart 2, the A winning, and South returned his diamond 5, hoping North had the 8, which he did, so that East played the Q from dummy. Now came the vital error. The heart 10 was led, the Q won and immediate return of the diamond 8 assured defeat of the contract, as the heart K remained out for the setting trick.

East pleaded that he hoped the two outstanding trumps would fall when he led the heart 10—very unsound, because South surely would not have played his A on the first heart lead if he had held either the Q or K. East should have counted North for both the K and Q. On that foundation, he had a play for his contract, which would have worked. It was to avoid a second trump lead, take in the spade Q, K and A, hoping North would have to follow suit, and then on the 6 discard the diamond 7.

North would have ruffed the spade 6, but then his side could not have taken any diamond trick and the contract would have been safe with the loss of only three trump tricks.

Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH



Quick Start for Late Peas In Victory Garden.

By DEAN HALLIDAY
(Released by Central Press Ass'n.)

Peas are a cool weather crop and grow easily in the spring and again in the fall. For a fall crop of peas in the Victory garden the variety known as Radio is suggested as it matures in about 58 days. Alderman, Telephone and Potlatch will also yield a late crop. By this time in the season the soil has frequently become somewhat dry, therefore, soaking the peas overnight in lukewarm water before planting, will help to speed germination.

As illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, peas planted late in the season should be placed deeper than those planted early in the spring when the soil is full of moisture. In heavy soil plant the late peas in trenches about four inches deep and in light soil about six inches deep. To insure getting the soil into close contact with the pea seeds (which helps to hasten germination) walk over the row lightly after the seeds have been covered with soil, as illustrated. Do not fill up the trench immediately but continue to add more soil as the plants develop. This method encourages deep rooting for hot weather endurance.

To be at their best garden peas should be cooked and served immediately or at least within a few hours after they have been picked.

THEATERS

New Madison Film.

"This Land of Mine," RKO Radio picture, opens tomorrow at the Madison. The film has as its setting a little village somewhere in occupied Europe just as Nazi troops take over the community. Charles Laughton and Maureen O'Hara are co-starred. They are cast as two school teachers in the village. The action starts when two German officers are killed and the Germans deal out harsh reprisals. Other Madison picture is "All By Myself," starring Rosemary Lane, Patric Knowles and Evelyn Ankers.

A Gentle Gangster.

"A Gentle Gangster," new Republic picture, is now on the screen of the Park. Starring Barton MacLane, the film deals with a bootlegger who throws over his racket for the girl he loves and goes straight. He marries the girl and with two other couples of the gang they move to a small town. For 20 years they live as successful, upright citizens until their peace is disturbed by a gangster who tries to organize a "protection" racket in the town. "The Sombrero Kid" is the co-feature.

Mysterious Doctor.

Murder and superstition are combined in the method of war sabotage exposed in Warner Brothers' "The Mysterious Doctor," which opens today at the Ritz. A headless ghost which "haunts" the richest mine of the district, effectively keeping it out of war production, figure as the ace saboteur. Johnny Mack Brown rides onto the screen in the co-feature, "The Stranger From Pecos."

Stage Door Canteen.

Forty-eight stars and six "name" bands are in the cast of Sol Lesser's "Stage Door Canteen," which opens tomorrow at the Ohio. The orchestras of Kay Kyser, Freddie Martin, Count Basie, Benny Goodman, Xavier Cugat and Guy Lombardi are featured.

IN THE CAPITAL-- By Raymond Clapper

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa—(By Wireless)—It may seem strange that here in the midst of all kinds of warlike activity anyone should be writing about something else but the strongest impression I get out of it is the shocking way in which civilization wastes the best it has because we have not been able to find a way to adjust differences without war.

Everybody I have seen wants this over with and wants to get back home. That is not likely to be as easy or as soon as I wish it could be. The next best thing is for all of us civilians to make sure that insofar as we can prevent it no more of these world blood baths are necessary.

Clapper

All right. What specifically can one nation alone do? I think one thing we can do as a start—make sure that this time the British and ourselves and, I hope, the Russians all stick together. Somebody has got to be top dog in the world for a while and I don't know anyone I'd rather trust it to than our own alliance now bound together against the Axis aggressors.

In this group of powers—and I think China also belongs in it—is massed such military strength and resources that no other combination of nations can challenge us again if we stand together.

Only the most powerful combination could hope to crush the strongly entrenched Axis for they have made war their business and have set up shop in the most advantageous position, which they were able to do through the folly, ignorance and shortsightedness of our side.

We were in command of the world at the end of the last war. We are going to be in command of it again this time after many months more of bloody struggle, after thousands of lives of the finest people in the world are sacrificed.

Whoever says it is impossible for ourselves and the British to work together is flying in the face of evidence seen everywhere in the United Kingdom and here in North Africa.

I visited one unit where the British prepared a Fourth of July surprise for the Americans, rustling up rye whisky sours for them and leading them in singing the Star Spangled Banner. That was something truly touching to me because it dramatized so fully what I have been seeing and learning of the intimate co-operation everywhere between the two forces.

It ought to be obvious now that for mutual security America and Britain would be foolish not to stick together. Without British bases, British naval facilities and air facilities our forces would have been unable to function effectively. It would be equally difficult for Britain to defend herself, even the home island, without American industrial resources.

Russia also can be presumed to look to her own interest and perhaps more clearly than we have looked to our own. Her interest plainly lies now in maintaining a stable world in which she can spend the next generation developing her great internal potentialities. Her interest equally is in having nonaggressive powers in command on the other side of Germany.

Furthermore there seems to me to be good reason to expect Russia to open bases against Japan as soon as she no longer is in danger from the Germans in the west. Russia has an interest in an open Pacific and Japan stands in the way.

In those facts it seems to me lie the hope of a stable world for a long time after victory and I think we would be missing our big chance if we did not believe that American common sense will lead our country to do that.

FAIR ENOUGH-- By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK—You take my friend Joe, a member of the numerous Spelvin tribe of Americans and a first cousin of George Spelvin, the All-American. Joe is a one-horse grocer. His little pitch is what the big chains and certain government agencies call a Mom and Pop store. Neither he nor his ever-loving had any formal training in bookkeeping and when they started up about 20 years ago they innocently figured that they would just sell groceries for a little more than the groceries cost them to buy and handle and call the difference profit. It was fairly simple at the start but not as simple as that because there were spoilage and breakage and skips and deadbeats but those factors were shoved along to the paying customers and they got by all right.

Pegler

They are still getting by but the light burns later and later these nights in their apartment above the store. There is social security, and ration points and ceiling prices and withholding tax and employer's reports on compensation paid, and the unemployment insurance and employer's liability and a half dozen kinds of insurance and their own income tax reports, both federal and state and not alike. And the gasoline ration stamps and the motor fuel license and the beer and oleomargarine licenses and the milk permit and the health department permit to handle meat. And, of course, the store accounts with the wholesalers and the accounts of the charge customers with Mom and Pop. And the laws

They have hundreds of little transactions every day in which for a slip or because of ignorance they could be hauled before some board or other and made to explain and possibly be prosecuted and given a bad name as black marketeers betraying the brave lads at the front. Although it is hard to imagine anyone who would be less likely to betray those brave lads than Joe and his ever-loving, considering that he was one of those brave lads, himself, the last time and up in the line, too, and was rather badly hurt although not by the enemy—he wrenched something trying to pull a gun into position in the mud—and considering, too, the fact that their own kid, the oldest of three, is also one of those brave lads at the present writing.

They have to know what is required of them by Old Sam's treasury department and the state treasury and something about the labor laws and keep up with the flutuations in rationing and tend the store and keep the stock replenished and keep things squared up at the bank. All told, the bookkeeping and the keeping posted on what goes these days under the war emergency regulations amounts almost to an occupation in itself and that is where their overtime comes in, far into the night, even though they have had to take on the luxury of a part-time accountant to keep them out of jail and out of hock.

It is a strange thing that Joe and the ever-loving have been paying social security for quite a turnover of butchers, clerks and wagon boys, full time and part time, for years and years but haven't any social security themselves, except as they have been able to roll them own as the years went by. The store is their social security, the store and the back-log that they have put away but they have had a fair share of medical and hospital bills and there was the cost of sending the oldest kid to military school so they wouldn't be very secure very long if they should decide to retire tomorrow.

To people who started out keeping their accounts and other paper work in a couple of hours a couple of nights a week, the accumulated requirements now are a serious burden, especially after long days behind the counter and hustling around the markets.

Maybe if he and she were to go into one of the war factories they would do about as well, give or take a few dollars a week, as they are doing now and be shed of all the paper work and get time and a half for that evening and some soulless corporation could do the worrying about the withholding and the reports to the treasury and all. But storekeeping is their business and it is a pretty good little store, after all, into which they have put their best years and they like to feel independent. But if you were to ask Joe and the ever-loving if they would start a store if they had it to do over today, the answer would be no. Too many headaches

ON BROADWAY-- By Dorothy Kilgallen

You Can't Print That!

A compendium of tales that can't be told with names because they're too true to print. If you find in them any resemblance to actual persons, living or dead—you've probably guessed right!

SHOWPEOPLE will tell you that on Broadway, in Hollywood, and all through the hinterlands he toured for years as a vaudeville headliner, nothing is so rare as a man like Hugh. A comedy headliner whose earnings have skirted the staggering side of the ledger for a duo of decades, Hugh has less ham in him than you're liable to find in your neighborhood butcher shop at the moment.

That's why he hasn't an enemy to his famous name. No one begrudges him his popularity or prosperity. When happiness made a belated entrance into his life, everyone rejoiced and pointedly ignored the unconventional role necessity forced it to assume.

Kilgallen

Hugh has been married for many years—one of those imperfect alliances that, for family reasons, will never wind up in the divorce courts despite mutual indifference. But four years ago Hugh met Peggy, a dancer in the chorus of a Broadway show. She wasn't gay or glamorous or striking, but she was as refreshing as a cool ocean breeze. And despite the difference in their ages, Hugh and Peggy fell in love.

Those who know them say it was the real thing. The more they realized how deeply they cared, the more they were haunted by the futility of their romance. Hugh blamed himself for being unfair to Peggy, and Peggy would grow sad thinking how impossible their love was for a girl who had always wanted a husband and a home.

Then, not long ago, Peggy met a young naval officer who fell in love with her and asked her to marry him. She liked and admired him, and felt she could make a success of the match, so she accepted. She told Hugh of her decision and he wished her well. Hugh, as everybody knows, is that kind of a guy.

The young officer got a leave some weeks ago. He married Peggy, and after the ceremony they entertained at a large and elegant reception. Their honeymoon was extravagantly wonderful.

Ordinarily, they couldn't have afforded this luxurious launching of their wedded life, but a "relative" of Peggy's had made them a wedding present of a check to cover the reception and the honeymoon.

That "relative" didn't cry at the wedding—he wasn't even there. Because Hugh was the "relative" who wanted his beloved to have a wonderful wedding and honeymoon, even if he couldn't share them with her!

But you can't print that. The young husband would be furious—you couldn't expect him to understand. That would ruin Peggy's happiness, and Peggy's happiness is what Hugh cares about above everything else.

Services For Mrs. Lehr To Be Conducted Saturday.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1:30 p. m. Saturday for Mrs. Louis W. Lehr, 71, who died at her home, 359 Bell street, yesterday after a long illness.

Services will be at the Wappner funeral home with Rev. S. R. Parrott, pastor of Gospel Center church, in charge.

In addition to survivors previously announced, Mrs. Lehr leaves a brother, Harry Schaefer of Toledo.

GIVES WARNING ON QUOTAS FOR SLAUGHTERERS

Meat Committee Says It Must Have Evidence of Amount Killed In 1941.

Holders of meat slaughter permits in Richland county will receive letters within the next two days from the county meat committee telling them they must submit evidence to the committee by July 15 to substantiate the amount of livestock slaughtered in 1941 upon which their present slaughter quotas are based.

Former Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston, chairman of the meat committee, said a number of inaccuracies had appeared in the previous estimates of 1941 slaughter figures which had been submitted by butchers and slaughterers.

Because of errors or misrepresentations in some permit holders' estimates, they would be entitled to slaughter more livestock this year than in 1941, he said, although the 1943 quota is supposed to be only a percentage of the 1941 figure.

Permits have already been issued to 42 county butchers and slaughterers who must prove to the meat committee again that they are entitled to them.

The committee chairman pointed out that "city farmers" who live in town but butcher livestock on their farms must have permits as well as meat dealers and farmers who slaughter livestock for sale.

Farmers whos laughter animals for their own use are not required to have permits. Neighbors in farm communities also may trade up to 400 pounds of meat annually without permits. That is, a farmer may give a quarter of beef to his neighbor and be "paid" for it later in meat when his neighbor slaughters a beef or hog.

RECEIPTS UP

County Sales Tax Revenue $2,442 More Than 1942.

Showing a gradual gain in recent weeks, Richland county sales tax collections for the last half of the year were $256,122, an increase of $2,442 over the corresponding period in 1942 and nearly as much as the increase for the entire state

Figures compiled by State Treasurer Don Ebright listed the state-wide receipts for the first six months of 1943 at $24,-613,781, a gain of only $2,801 for all of Ohio over a similar period in 1942.

The state collections were trailing last year's figures until June and then they began to inch upward almost weekly. Largely responsible for the gain were lively sales of clothing and shoes

Expects Charge Army Building Obsolete Planes

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A formal report criticising the nation's military forces for permitting continued production of planes it considers obsolete will be issued this week-end by the Truman war investigating committee. That was the prediction today of D. C. Speaker, mythical capital observer who represents authentic but unquotable sources.

Speaker said the report lashes at what it terms failure of the military men to reduce the number—said to be 60—of various types of fighting, transport and trainer planes now under construction.

In addition, Speaker said the report charges that one of the largest aviation manufacturing companies handling military contracts has "spread management too thin," with inefficient production of war planes as a result.

"The committee findings also will deal with a subcommittee's investigation of reports that defective parts have gone into some aircraft engines being manufactured for the armed forces," Speaker said.

(Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air forces, recently told the senate appropriations committee that the army had decided to concentrate on four models of fighters, instead of the six previously in mass production, and was constantly improving the performance of its planes.)

NEGRO SHOT

GALLIPOLIS—(AP)—Dr. Donald Warhime, Gallia county coroner, returned a verdict of homicide today in the death last night of Roy Mitchell, 51-year-old Negro, who was shot Wednesday night by an unidentified assailant.

INDICTED FOR AIDING JAPS

Ex-Editor Accused of Writing Speeches, Articles for Enemy Officials.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—Frederick Heizer Wright, a copy reader and former night telegraph editor of the New York Daily News was expected to surrender to federal authorities today to answer an indictment charging that before Pearl Harbor he was an unregistered paid agent of the Japanese imperial government.

Wright was indicted yesterday by the federal grand jury, charged with conspiracy and with failing to notify the state department of his employment by the Japanese. He faces a maximum sentence of two years imprisonment and $10,000 fine if convicted.

The government charges Wright, 41 year old native of St. Louis, Mo., and a member of the news editorial staff for sixteen years, received $300 to $400 a month for writing speeches, articles and press releases for Japanese officials. The indictment charges he worked for the Japanese for a ten-year period. His employment by the Japanese ended, federal agents said, on Dec. 6, 1941 the day before the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor.

His work for the Japanese was kept secret, FBI men said and none of the executives or his fellow workers on the News had knowledge of his pro-Japanese activities.

Up and Down THE STREET

Oscar (Mansfield Tire) Swanson knows now why his sailboat, which he operates down at Charles Mill lake, didn't respond properly to the wind the other day, when he had a couple friends out for a sail. Other boats, strangely, scudded along speedily enough—more speedily than Swanson's which seemed to be inexplicably loggy. Homeward bound after a slow trip around the lake, Swanson found the trouble. He was just dragging his anchor.

The farm labor shortage in the Mansfield area will be somewhat relieved starting next Sunday. That's the day the Boy Scout farm labor camp opens at Camp Avery Hand, jr., south of Ontario. Instead of following their usual camp routine of games and Scout work, the Scouts are going to work on farms around the camp area. Any farmer needing help can call Johnny Appleseed Boy Scout office, stating how many boys he needs and the type of work he has for them. Boys will be paid standard wages.

Prospect park resembled a maternity ward yesterday afternoon. It was a baby contest, sponsored by the Mansfield Parks association as a part of the summer playground program. Twenty babies were entered in the contest by the children registered at the park. There was a tie for first prize between little Christine Swartz and Baby Mary Alice Laser. The babies ranged in age from four months to one-and-a-half years. There were no "kicks" from the 20 participants on the judge's decision.

ICKES OIL RULE RAPPED BY AAA

Association Asks Ouster, Says Secretary More Interested In Shortages Than Output.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND—The American Automobile association today urged that Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes be relieved of his duties as petroleum coordinator and proposed appointment of an administrator to deal with the industry's wartime shortages and supply problems.

In a statement released here by John L. Young, secretary, the AAA declared Ickes "apparently is more interested in making his predictions of oil shortages come true than in eliminating the shortages" and suggested that the cabinet official devote his full time to "restoring the coal industry to full production."

"We are fearful," the statement continued, "that if Mr. Ickes was in full charge of gasoline the oil problem would be solved similarly to the methods employed in attempting to solve the coal trouble—taking the mines away from the owners.

"When applied to the use of automobiles, basic rations would be taken and cars would be immobilized."

"Providing gasoline and other petroleum products for the 25,-000,000 civilian vehicles and to the army, navy and air forces, as well as fuel oil for industry and home heating is not a job for a jack-of-all-trades," the statement added.

"We feel that no more fatal mistake could be made in administering our national affairs than to entrust petroleum to the overburdened Mr. Ickes."

FIRST VIOLENCE HITS EASTERN COAL REGION

Trainman Injured As Pickets Begin 24-Hour Vigil to Halt All Work.

(By Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH — The first violence was reported today in the strike-bound southwestern Pennsylvania "captive" mine area as roving pickets announced they were starting a 24-hour-a-day vigil at all mines in the Uniontown region to help enforce their "no contract—no work" fight.

Lawrence Blum, 52, of West Brownsville, conductor on a freight train, said he was hit in the head by a piece of slate thrown by one of "about 50 pickets" a the Colonial 3 mine of the H. C. Frick Coke company, a U. S. Steel corporation subsidiary, as his train went into a siding shortly before midnight.

Meanwhile, United States Attorney Charles F. Uhl, who was asked for aid in a two-hour conference yesterday by harassed coal operators, said he was making a complete report of the situation at the request of Attorney General Francis Biddle.

Some coal men said they believed Biddle's request indicated that action by the department of justice was being contemplated under the two-week-old Connally-Smith anti-strike act. Uhl and others declined comment.

The pickets were accompanied by some women and even children. They asserted to newsmen that "every one of the 22,000 miners in Fayette county" would be out before nightfall.

Presidents John P. Busarello of the Pittsburgh UMW district and William Hynes of the Uniontown district charged the walkout was "an outlaw strike conducted by outlaw miners" and urged that the government act to restore order.

Calls Picketing Criminal Offense

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Rep. Howard W. Smith, D., Va., said today that the picketing of the remaining struck coal mines was a criminal offense under the anti-strike act he sponsored

"The district (U. S.) attorney ought to issue warrants against the picketeers," said Smith. "But the coal situation is a delicate one and I perhaps should not be too critical until the matter has a chance to tell."

Smith emphasized that the picketing in the coal fields was a "direct violation" of the law because the government is operating the mines.

Mansfield high school's football schedule for next fall has finally been completed, leaving the Tyger athletic department nothing to worry about except finding enough boys to fill the available uniforms, and finding the means of transportation to four games away from home.

Negotiations with Cleveland Benedictine for a game here Oct. 2 have been brought to a happy ending, and the tilt is now definitely on the schedule.

This rounds out a schedule already recognized as one of the toughest schoolboy assignments in the state next autumn.

Coach Paul Snyder has one happy thought as he looks forward to the 1943 gridiron campaign. Halfback Roland Schmidt appears to have been saved for the grid wars, although he reaches his 18th birthday anniversary next month.

"Smitty" already has enlisted in the army reserve, and has been notified that he probably won't be called until January.

And now here's the schedule again:

Sept. 17—At Marion.
Sept. 24—At Elyria.
Oct. 2—Benedictine.
Oct. 8—Defiance.
Oct. 15—Springfield.
Oct. 22—At Massillon.
Oct. 29—At Portsmouth.
Nov. 5—Toledo Waite.
Nov. 12—Canton McKinley.

Mansfield Tyger cage star Dean Hahn has been invited to attend the Columbus Red Birds' baseball school.

School, they call it. But there's little teaching done there. It's strictly a search for baseball talent, and it's up to the young players to show enough promise to warrant the Birds signing them to a contract in the St. Louis Cardinal chain organization.

Hahn worked out with the Birds not long ago, and the fact that he has been invited back for another look-see is encouraging.

Mention of the Red Bird school will always remind me of the time Tommy Moxley and Ray Mondron from Mt. Vernon attended the Columbus tryouts.

An old-time Mt. Vernon ball player named Henderson gave Moxley a bit of advice before he went to Columbus.

"When you get down there," said Henderson, "make yourself conspishous. Make them notice you. Be conspishous!"

Both Tom and Ray made themselves "conspishous" enough to be carried by the Birds for the rest of the season, and they got into a lot of games

Eye trouble forced Mondron's retirement a year later, while Moxley discovered he could make more money working and playing ball for Westinghouse than he could in the minor leagues. Those were the good old days.

Luther McCally is puzzled. He's been sending the Sporting News to Moxley in Africa since way last April. Last letter McCally got from Tom in June said: "Send me the Sporting News."

The V-mail gets through, but evidently the bulk mail is getting sidetracked. Maybe the new tabloid form of the Sporting News will expedite it.

And did you see the by-line of former N-J Sports Editor Oscar Ruhl in last week's Sporting News, on a story about Rip Sewell's slow ball?

Promise More Morning Tilts After Winning.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Convinced that morning skies smile favorably on the Cleveland Indians, the Tribe front office today promised more early games after a 5 to 2 victory over the Washington Nationals in an initial swing shift venture.

Having defeated the Senators in the series opener at League park yesterday, the Indians return to the floodlights of Municipal stadium tonight one game behind the fourth-place easterners.

Vice president Roger Peckinpaugh was well pleased with the paid attendance of 3,691 at the morning attraction

Allie Reynolds allowed seven hits as Mickey Rocco and Manager Lou Boudreau led the hitting attack with three and two doubles respectively.

The Indians welcomed the return of Pitcher Mel Harder after his two months absence. Outfielder Frank Doljack, signed only two weeks ago, was released to make room for the veteran right hander who broke his ankle while sliding into second base in a game at St. Louis.

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Philly is no different

The Cincinnati Reds are here, striving valiantly to get above the .500 mark, and so far they've played a lot of baseball in two games and made no progress.

Tonight, with Ed Heusser pitching for the Reds and Newt Kimball for the Phils, the show goes on.

The Reds opened yesterday's activities ambitiously, snatching a 7-5 victory out of the fire in the first game, but dropped the 14-inning nightcap, 1 to 0. Manager Bill McKechnie of the Reds is protesting the second game on the grounds that Umpire George Magerkurth must have influenced Bucky Harris of the Phils by remarking in the 15th, "I don't think we can go any longer."

Harris forthwith sent in Merrill May to pinch-hit for Pitcher Dick Barrett and Merrill knocked in the winning run with a single.

That was about all there was to the game, outside of the numerous scoring chances both teams blew. The Phils made five errors but the Reds treated their pitcher, Ray Starr, to his 20th straight inning without a run to go on. Joe Beggs, who relieved him in the 10th, was charged with the defeat.

The Reds got 17 hits off four Phil pitchers in the opener while Johnny Vander Meer gave up 10. The Reds came from behind in the fourth inning to tie the score at four-all, and after both teams had scored a run in the sixth, got ahead for good in the seventh on Eric Tipton's single, a sacrifice, and Max Marshall's double.

SEES NO IMMEDIATE FOUR-MINUTE MILE

STOCKHOLM — (AP) — Arne Andersson, world's fastest miler (4.02.6) who failed yesterday in an attempt to shatter Gunder Haegg's 1,500-meter record, doesn't believe the much-talked about four-minute mile will be run by any of the present milers.

"I cannot imagine anyone running the mile in four minutes or less during this or the next few years," the Swedish 25-year-old school teacher told the Associated Press in an interview shortly before his attempt to set a new world 1,500-meter mark of 3.45 was spoiled by inclement weather.

Marksmen Plan Meet

Ohio Shooters Face Wartime Difficulty.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Some of the stars will be missing, the program has been slashed about 50 per cent, and travel restrictions will cut the field—but Ohio's 57th annual trapshooting championships will be held Saturday and Sunday at Columbus Gun club.

* * *

Although some ammunition will be available on the grounds, all marksmen have been warned to "bring your own shells if you want to be certain of going through all the races." Shooters with excess supplies of the rapidly-dwindling ammunition have been requested to bring along a few extra shells to aid those who have none.

Last year the program called for 600 targets, 200 at 16 yards for the state championship, 200 at 16 yards for the class titles, 100 doubles, and 100 at handicaps. This year the class championships and the 16 yard titles will be decided on the same targets, over the 100-clay route—a saving of 300 shells and 300 targets for each entrant.

The usual 50 pair doubles race has been slashed to 25 pairs, but the 100-target handicap race remains the same, giving the field 250 targets instead of the usual 600. That saves each marksman 14 boxes of shells.

A year ago the Ohio State shoot set a national attendance record of 317, but the association expects a big drop this year because of travel restrictions and gasoline rationing

Karl Maust the husky Columbus marksman who has dominated the last two shoots, will be back for another try, along with a host of the other stars However, scores of hot-shots, including Joe Hiestand, the Hillsboro farmer, are in the service, and will miss the annual classic.

Last year Maust won the singles championship at 16 yards in the longest shootoff in state meet history He and Hiestand knotted at 200 straight, but Maust broke another 175 in a row to nose out the Hillsboro luminary who holds the world's long-run record of 1173. Maust, all-around champion, also won the doubles with 96 of 100, four ahead of Hiestand who won in 1941. Two years ago Maust copped the singles and all-around titles, and then won the "champion of champions" race between state title-holders at the Grand American.

George Wills, 36-year-old one-eyed painter from Greenville, who won the handicap last year in a shootoff with five others, will try again. Wills missed his 100th target last year, losing a chance to win off by himself, the miss tossing him into a 97 of 100 tie with J. W. White of Springfield, Roy Izor of Farmersville, P. R. Cummings of Cedarville, L. P. Trees of Plain City, and W. H. Cox of Cincinnati. Wills broke 50 straight in the shootoff to win, Cox taking second with 49.

Other defending champions expected to make a bid for the laurels include:

Women's: Mrs Reba Peters of Springfield, who defeated Florence Mos of Cincinnati by one target in a 75-clay shootoff after they had tied at 191 of 200

Professional: C J Mos of Cincinnati, 199 of 200

Junior: Ralph Leist of Pataskala, 183 of 200.

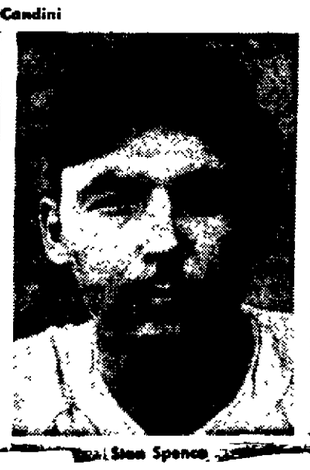
Pitching, Base Running Keep Nats Going

Milo Candini

Georgie Case

Jim Vernon



Stan Spence

Alex Carrasquel

By WALTER L. JOHNS
(Central Press Sports Editor)

Pitching, and plenty of good pitching at that, plus some terrorism on the bases, have turned the Washington Nationals into a flag contender this season after 10 years of mediocre play, only one of which found the team finishing in the first division.

Taking a gander at the capital crew we find the Nats are only a game and a half out of first place. Going a bit farther than the league standings, we discover the Nats have been winning their ball games by fine pitching, daring base running and some timely hitting.

Individually, and as a unit, the Nats aren't hitting the ball. The team is fifth in club batting and not a player is hitting over .300.

But the pitchers are doing the work necessary to keep the Washington club in the thick of the pennant chase.

In Milo Candini, the Yankee castoff who is bidding for "rookie - of - the - year" honors; Alex Carresquel, the Venezuelan; Early Wynn and Dutch Leonard, the Nats have four pitchers who rank with the best in the loop today.

Candini, the Yankee rookie who was sent to Newark where he won but four games last season, has proven the star of the Nat cast, having won seven straight games without a defeat. Carrasquel also has contributed seven victories to the cause and old Dutch Leonard has added another five victories.

The Washington outfield reputedly is the "hittingest" outfield in the game today. Bob Johnson, the Athletics' long-time star, is leading the club at bat although he isn't hitting in the .300 class. Georgie Case, the star centerfielder, and Stan Spence, the right fielder, also have failed to hit as they did last year when Case got .320 and Spence turned in a .323 effort.

It's in the base stealing business, however, that the club is terrorizing the league. And stolen bases have contributed much toward bringing in that extra run needed to win close ball games.

As usual, Case, champion sack pilferer in the league the last four years, is leading his club and the majors with 20 stolen bases to date.

Jimmy Vernon, first baseman, has stolen 13 bases and the rest of the team has grabbed off nearly 50 more to put the club on top in this art.

The presence of Clyde Milan on the Nat roster as coach has much to do with the base-stealing specialty of the Washington team. Milan, who stole 88 bases in 1912 and 74 the following season, was one of Ty Cobb's big rivals years ago.

Two Chattanooga players who came up to the Nats in mid-season last year are helping the capital gang by some fine defensive playing. They are Ellis Clary, third baseman, and Johnny Sullivan, the shortstop. In addition, Gerry Priddy, another Yankee who couldn't make the grade with the Gotham gang, has been giving the Nats standout play around the second sack. Jake Early, who has been on the Washington roster since 1939, is the catcher.

Old Ossie Bluege, a veteran baseball man, is the manager of the Nats this season, and, as the record shows, is doing a fine job with an ordinary group of baseball players.

Naval Schools Meet Again

Athletic Session Set At Mansfield Sunday.

DELAWARE —(UP)— The commanding officers of naval units at Ohio colegos have been invited to attend a meeting with Ohio college athletic representatives at Mansfield on Sunday in effort to organize a league for sports competition among Buckeye colleges having naval units, it was announced today.

George E. Gauthier, Ohio Wesleyan athletic director, said that athletic representatives met for a preliminary discussion June 22, but it was decided to call in commanding officers to work out details of the program.

Schools which have shown interest in the possible formation of such a league are Miami, Denison, Wooster, Oberlin, Bowling Green, Baldwin-Wallace, Case, Ohio Wesleyan, and possibly Depauw in Indiana, Gauthier said.

Indianapolis Reduces Margin

(By Associated Press)

Indianapolis, striving to regain the top spot in the American Association's sizzling pennant race, took advantage of Milwaukee's idleness last night to climb within a half game of the leading Brewers.

The Indians accomplished the mission by blasting out 12 hits while limiting St. Paul to six for a 7-4 victory, the third straight win over the Saints. Milwaukee's double-header at Columbus was postponed.

Attempting to overtake St. Paul in sixth place, Louisville scored its fourth straight victory and its sixth in the last seven starts by downing Minneapolis 5-3.

Toledo beat Kansas City, 4 to 1, on Bill Seinsoth's four-hitter, but lost the 12-inning nightcap to the last place Blues, 5 to 4.

Yankees Take Opening Game

Yankees captured the opening game of the Junior Baseball league yesterday, defeating the Nationals 12-4 behind the two-hit pitching of Landon.

The Yanks got only eight hits off Rowe, who gave seven bases on balls, and every member of the winning team broke into the scoring column

DAILY DOUBLE PAYS $1,225.40 AT CAMDEN

CAMDEN, N. J.—(INS)—Eleven persons today were $1,225.40 richer after holding the lucky daily-double ducats at Camden's Garden State park race track.

The mud-loving maidens who romped home ahead of their fields to form the winning combination were Mrs. William Muth's four-year-old, Can't We, which returned $27.80 straight to take the first race, and Mrs. William H. Cane's Gaffal, a three-year-old, who paid $68.70 in the second event.

Wakefield Named Sub

Replaces Keller On American All-Stars.

By TOMMY DEVINE

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—The heat was turned on Rookie Dick Wakefield of the Detroit Tigers again today, but he didn't seem to mind

Wakefield was named by American League President William Harridge to supplant the injured Charley Keller of New York on the All-Star team that will oppose a picked National league outfit next Tuesday night at Philadelphia.

The selection was another red-letter day in the short, but fabled baseball career of the lanky 22-year-old outfielder. The choice put the pressure on Wakefield but he's accustomed to it now.

When the original all-star squad of 25 players was announced a week ago, Wakefield was one of the outstanding performers to be "snubbed" by the league managers. Immediately there was a flurry of protests, but nothing could be done until Keller's injury made a vacancy. Harridge then nominated the Tiger rookie.

The five outfielders named originally were Keller, George Case of Washington, Chet Laabs of St. Louis, Jeff Heath of Cleveland and Johnny Lindell of New York. None of the quintet was hitting in the .300 bracket, while Wakefield has a current batting mark of .323 to rank fourth in the league. He paces the circuit in the total number of hits and generally recognized as the league's outstanding rookie.

The Tiger star has been in the baseball spotlight continually since he attracted the attention of scouts while a student at the University of Michigan.

Detroit lured him off the Michigan campus with a bonus of $52,000. He was sent to Winston-Salem of the Piedmont league for seasoning in 1941 and hit .300 in 55 games there.

Last season he moved up to Beaumont of the Texas league and was the sensation of the minors. He took the circuit batting championship with a mark of .345.

Steve O'Neill managed Wakefield at Beaumont and when he was promoted to the Tigers along with the youthful outfielder he promptly put the "kid" on the spot by predicting he'd be among the American league's outstanding hitters.

Despite the magnitude of the assignment, Wakefield has lived up to it.

Whether the gold-fringed Wakefield will get a chance to prove how well he produces under competitive pressure now rests with Manager Joe McCarthy, who'll pilot the American league All-Stars.

ORLANDO, Fla. — (U.P.) — The Florida Open Golf tournament begins today with almost 100 golfers scheduled to tee off in the competition which will last through Sunday.

DODDS AND HAEGG BOOKED AT HARVARD

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — (U.P.) — Another race between Gunder Haegg, Swedish distance star, and Gil Dodds, Boston divinity student, will feature a charity track meet at Harvard Stadium, July 24, university athletics authorities announced today.

Ninety per cent of the net proceeds of the meet, under joint sponsorship of the A.A.U. and the American-Scandinavian A.A., will go to the army air forces aid society. No charge will be made for use of the Stadium.

Says Umpires Favor Yanks

Sewell Raises Beef On General Grounds.

ST. LOUIS — (U.P.) — American league umpires today were accused of favoritism towards the league-leading New York Yankees by usually-conservative Luke Sewell, manager of the St. Louis Bdowns.

"The umpires in the American league are certainly New York conscious," Sewell said as his Browns snapped back after four straight losses to the Yankees by whipping the Red Sox yesterday.

"I realize that the decision that was finally made in the first game with the Yankees Monday was correct but it should have been made immediately."

Sewell's beef was brought about when Milt Byrnes singled with Don Gutteridge on first. Gutteridge slid into third ahead of outfielder Johny Lindell's throw, which wound up in the Brown's dugout. During the scramble, Gutteridge scored and Byrnes reached third. Catcher Frankie Hayes of St. Louis apparentlyy convinced Sewell that Byrnes should be permitted to score, too, and Luke convinced Umpire Bill Summers, who waved Byrnes across.

The Yankees cited a ground rule stating that a runner is entitled to the base he is running for and one more on a wild throw. Summers finally returned Byrnes to third after 12 minutes of arguing, erasing what might have been the winning run.

Sewell said:

"That's far from new. It's been my observation after 21 years in this circuit that the Yankees never have anything to fear from umpires.

"They don't have to worry about hitting at bad balls because the umpires won't call them on the Yankees. They can wait for a good one.

"Then do you know what one of them had the nerve to say to me? I don't give the Yankees anything. I just called one of your men safe at first and he was just barely safe.' He gave us something when he called one of our men safe when he was 'just barely safe'."

Bucyrus Colt Wins at Randall

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Wayne (Curley) Smart, the Delaware reinsman, decided today he might have something in Eva's Boy, a two-year-old trotter.

Eva's Boy, at 10 to 1 odds, topped the rest of the Grand Circuit's first-flight juvenile trotters in the $3,000 Harriman Cup stake at North Randall.

Owned by Walter Michael of Bucyrus, the bay son of Volomite was a straight heat winner, breezing in the first mile and handily in the second.

Good Bye, driven by Sep Palin, took the second and third heats of the $2,625 National stake for two-year-old pacers, carried over from Wednesday.

Yankees Escape No-Hitter

Gordon Gets Single With Two Out In 9th.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

FOR YEARS baseball's fountain of youth has reposed in Yankee stadium and joining the perennial American league champions has made almost any ordinary ball player into a star, at least temporarily.

Now the Philadelphia Phillies have set up a rival clinic in rejuvenation that is producing just as spectacular results without the scent of a world series share for a stimulant.

Schoolboy Rowe, Si Johnson, Babe Dahlgren and other veterans have responded to the treatment of Dr. Stanley Raymond Harris this season and the newest Phillies' patient to take the cure successfully is Richard O. (Kewpie) Barrett.

This 35-year-old righthanded pitcher who was cut loose a few days ago by the Chicago Cubs after losing four games without winning one, came up yesterday with a 14-inning shutout against the Cincinnati Reds to win a gruelling 1-0 battle for the Phillies after they had been battered 7-5 by a 17-hit assault in the first half of a doubleheader.

The performance was flashy enough to share attention with the one-hit game pitched by Orval Grove of the Chicago White Sox last night as he beat the Yankees 1-0 for his seventh triumph without a defeat this season.

Grove's spoiler was a double by Joe Gordon (batting average .214), but the disappointment of 31,019 Chicago fans was somewhat assuaged by the fact the third-place Sox captured their ninth victory in 11 games. Their run came in the first inning on two singles and an error by John Lidell, who dropped a fly.

The second place Detroit Tigers extended their spurt to ten wins in 12 games by beating the Philadelphia Athletics 3-1 on six-hit hurling by Paul (Dizzy) Trout.

The Cleveland Indians made seven of their nine hits for extra bases and beat the Washington Senators 5-2 in a morning contest with Allie Reynolds scattering seven blows.

The St. Louis Browns rebounded from their losing series with the Yankees to whip the Boston Red Sox 5-2 with Steve Sundra pitching seven hit ball.

In the National league, the Pittsburgh Pirates punished the Brooklyn Dodgers 8-2 for Rip Sewell's 12th victory against two defeats.

FDR Declares He Hasn't Power to Seize Lewis' Union

HE CAN SEIZE CORPORATION, BUT NOT UMW

President Spars With Newsmen On What He Can Do to Enforce WLB Order.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt declared today that he lacked authority to seize John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers union as he parried questions as to whether he would try to force Lewis to bow to a War Labor board order.

At the same time, Mr. Roosevelt stated that he would not write any pink notes to Lewis asking for compliance with the board. The WLB has ordered the UMW to sign a contract with the nation's coal operators. More recently, it was reported that the board asked the president to enforce the order and seize the union's funds.

Mr. Roosevelt was asked if the government intended to do anything to force Lewis to accept the WLB order. Do what, the president retorted.

Mr. Roosevelt was told that the WLB wanted some action. He said that he did not think any action was needed because there was the action of a quasi-judicial agency, meaning the WLB. The president asked if he was supposed to write a polite note in longhand on pink paper asking Lewis to sign. If Lewis doesn't sign, what do I do then, the president wanted to know.

The president said he did not see the use of writing pink notes. He said, too, that there had been a lot of rot written on the subject. Still pressed for comment, the president again asked what would you do. His questioner then replied that that was what he wanted to learn from the president.

Mr. Roosevelt, talking directly to the reporters, declared that it would be difficult to get the signature of any of them on a note if they did not want to sign. Do you know of any law which would force you to sign, Mr. Roosevelt added.

He was told that the government, in once backing up the War Labor board, had threatened to seize Montgomery Ward company. The president declared laughingly that he did not want to take over the mail order house.

He then said that the president had authority to seize a corporation but that he did not think he had similar authority over the United Mine Workers union.

The president was asked whether he thought he needed sanctions against unions to deal with labor disputes. He replied by telling his questioner to read Section 8 of the recent law and also the first seven sections.

Mr. Roosevelt referred to the Smith-Connally anti-strike bill which was passed by congress over his veto. Section 8 of the bill requires unions to file notice of intention to strike.

Mr. Roosevelt also said that the dispute over railroad wages now before the War Labor board was being discussed at the White House. He said, however, that he did not think that there would be any action until next week at the earliest.

WFA Officials Suspend Marketing Quotas.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The War Food administration prepared an order today suspending AAA marketing quotas on the 1943 cotton crop.

Decision to lift the quotas was made after an agriculture department crop report estimated the 1943 acreage at about 8,000,000 acres less than the 30,000,000 acres farmers could have had in cultivation under the AAA program.

WARNS AGAINST GARBAGE FIRES

Health Commissioner Cites Laws Against Burning, Dumping Rubbish.

Mansfield and Richland county residents were reminded today by Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, that health laws prohibit the burning of garbage in open fires in the city or throwing it along streets and roads in any part of the county.

He said he had recently received complaints about both practices and that a number of Mansfielders had objected to the odors of garbage burning in backyards in the city.

The best way to get rid of garbage is to subscribe to the city garbage service. Dr. Wild said, but if that's not possible, refuse should be taken to the city sewage disposal plant or buried at least six inches deep and not less than 50 feet from a house.

Meanwhile, Mayor W. J. Locke revealed today that the city garbage department's income for the first six months of the year jumped $1,400 over the first half of 1942, but the city still lost $533 on the service.

Major reason the department couldn't make ends meet was the pay increase granted workers which took $1,900 more from the city coffers, the mayor said. A greater number of subscribers helped reduce the loss for the six-month period.

DEATH PROBED

Coroner Investigates Death of Mine Discoverer.

NASSAU, Bahamas —(INS)— A coroner's jury today investigated the death of Sir Harry Oakes, fabulously wealthy American-born discoverer of the world's second-richest gold mine, who was found dead in his bed yesterday.

Sir Harry, reputed to be worth $200,000,000 and who headed numerous business enterprises in Nassau, apparently was in the best of health when last seen Tuesday, at work as usual. His death had been attributed to a heart attack.

SETS DEADLINE FOR GAS BOOKS

MILLERSBURG — Saturday is the deadline set by the local rationing board for application for renewal of the basic A gasoline rationing books, according to John I. Uhl, head of the Holmes county OPA office. Applications received after that date will not be considered until Aug. 1, he said.

Uhl estimates that a total of 5,000 A books will be required by Holmes county motorists. To date less than 2,000 applications have been received.

Volunteer workers are now contributing their time to take care of issuing the books.

INVITES PUBLIC TO HEAR TALK AT DISTRICT LEGION MEETING

The public has been invited by the American Legion Fifth district to hear the address of Mrs. James Bines, formerly of the British Ambulance Corps, when she speaks at the afternoon session of the district convention at John Simpson auditorium Sunday.

Mrs. Bines will tell of her experience as an officer with the British Ambulance Corps in Malaya where she lived with her husband seven years before the outbreak of war. She saw action from Dec. 9 until the time she escaped from northern Malaya to Singapore, the last white woman to leave.

Wounded twice by the Japanese she escaped from Singapore to Java in a cattle boat and succeeded in getting out of Java three days before it fell.

Other features of the afternoon session will be a patriotic parade from the Legion home, around Central park and to John Simpson. C. O. Lister, McVey post commander, will open the program and invocation will be given by Ralph Vogt, 5th district chaplain.

Response to the welcome by Mayor W. J. Locke will be given by Harry Eaton, Fifth District commander. Ross Williams, vice-commander of the department of Ohio, will also be among the speakers.

Music for the program will be furnished by the McVey Post drum corps and the Harry Higgins Post band from Ashland. The program will close with the benediction by Rev. Grover Swoyer, chaplain of the McVey post.

Leave MacArthur As General, Plea Of Club Speaker

"Leave General Douglas MacArthur conduct the war against the Japanese as a general and don't drag him into politics."

This was the advice of Louis D. Hochberg, plant manager of Java Goodyear Tire and Rubber company organization before the island fell to the Japanese, to members of the Kiwanis club at their meeting yesterday at Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Hochberg praised MacArthur as a general who "has the respect of all his men, his fellow officers and the natives of Australia."

The speaker said the belief that the Japs are poor marksmen is without foundation. "I never saw them miss," he said.

Hochberg, who served as a marine in the first World war, was plant manager of Goodyear operations in Java, Dutch East Indies, for two years before the island fell to the Japs. He was one of the last Americans to leave the island. He was introduced at the meeting by John W. Graham, program chairman.

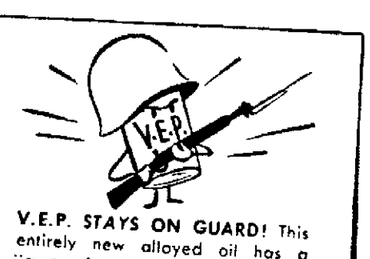
CAREFUL!

You may be starting trouble

When you start your motor

THOSE LONGER RESTS your car gets in the garage, today, give ordinary oil more time than ever to drain down from cylinder and piston walls, leaving them without effective lubrication when you step on the starter.

IT TAKES TIME for that oil to get back on the job. That's why experts say you can put as much wear on your motor in the first minute after you start up as you would in 200 miles of normal, warmed-up driving.



V.E.P. STAYS ON GUARD! This entirely new alloyed oil has a "magnetic-like" action which makes it cling to cylinder and piston walls not only over-night, but also for weeks at a time. Lubrication is there before your motor turns over.

FEEL THE PROOF! Make this simple demonstration at your Marathon dealer's. Feel the walls of inverted oil cans, both drained at the same time. Notice— the wall of the can which contained ordinary oil is "dry"—the V.E.P. can is still oily.

PROTECT YOUR MOTOR AGAINST UNNECESSARY "START-UP" DAMAGE! SWITCH TO V.E.P. ALLOYED-OIL

And don't forget—V.E.P. also rids your motor of harmful sludge, carbon, varnish, protects bearings against corrosion—greater dangers than ever, now that you're driving less and at slower speeds. See your Marathon man, switch to V.E.P. Alloyed-Oil, today.

If you ever need $25, $50, $100 or more quickly and simply, come to Household Finance. If you have a job so that you can repay in small monthly payments, you are welcome to apply for any amount up to $1000. The sooner you repay the less your loan costs. Example: A $50 loan repaid in 6 monthly instalments of $9.24 each costs $5.44—if repaid in one month the cost is only $1.50. No endorsers or guarantors are ever needed. We never make inquiries of friends or relatives.
